Rainbow Wins To Take Lead In America's Cup Series

VANDERBILT HOLDS LEAD FROM START

Series Now Stands Three Victories to Two With Four Needed to Decide

WINS BY FOUR MINUTES

Endeavour Trails by 1700 Yards as Rainbow Goes Home First Over Line

BOARD U.S. C. G. O. ARGO, OFF NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 24.—(UP)—The United States crashed into the lead for the first time in the America's cup series today when Harold Vanderbilt sent his gleaming white defender, Rainbow, sailing over the line ahead of Tom Sopwith's blue-hulled British challenger, Endeavour, for Rainbow's third straight triumph.

The series now stands three victories to two, with four wins needed to decide.

Rainbow outsailed the challenger from the start. She stepped away into a lead when the Briton's crew bogged down handling Endeavour's big spinnaker as they glided over the starting line.

Vanderbilt outkicked Sopwith on an accident to Rainbow's headrig when he big spinnaker blew out and forced the defender's crew to change sails. Endeavour was caught out of position when the accident happened, and was unable to take advantage of it.

After that, it was a grueling stern chase. Rainbow footing swiftly to the outer mark over a 13-mile run to leeward, and matching every effort Sopwith made in a brilliant tacking duel on the heat for home. Rainbow had established a lead of nearly a mile at the turn, and fought off Endeavour's efforts to close in on the home stretch.

Vanderbilt brought his sloop down the line, heeled far over, the water boiling along her quarter as she drove into the finish. The 15-knot wind was humming through the glistering struts, and a fan of spray was kicked up by the sharp prow of the defender.

Endeavour was trailing by 1700 yards as Vanderbilt's cutter crossed the line.

Rainbow's unofficial margin was 4 minutes 2 seconds.

Both yachts immediately agreed to race again tomorrow.

The official times of the finish were:

Endeavour—3:24.05 p. m.

Rainbow—3:28.06 p. m.

HEAVY SNOW FALLS IN HIGH SIERRAS

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Sept. 24.—(UP)—Winter had left its first calling card of the year in California today when several inches of snow fell along the higher Sierras.

Snow was general throughout the Lake Tahoe area, extending almost to Placerville. While the highways remained open, motorists were warned to drive carefully and at some points chains were advisable.

HUGH JOHNSON'S DAYS AS NRA HEAD NUMBERED

UNION TEXTILE WORKERS BACK AT WORK TODAY

Greatest Strike in Years Comes to End as Workmen Heed Orders

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24.—(UP)—Back to their looms today went thousands of textile workers with the greatest strike of the New Deal at an end and a new fight for unionization of every operative in the vast industry just beginning.

Though the strike is over labor's challenge to the industry will be intensified, Francis J. Gorman, United Textile Workers vice president who directed the vast walkout, warned manufacturers.

He set his goal at 1,000,000 union members. The union now has about 300,000.

The cost of the conflict, one of the bitterest and most far-flung in modern American industrial annals, was set today at 16 dead, more than 200 wounded, $15,000,000 lost in wages and uncounted millions in lost business. In addition thousands of dollars of property was destroyed and considerable sums spent for militia, special guards and deputies.

Gorman's goal, if achieved, would make the textile union the largest unit in organized labor in the country. It would also make Gorman one of the most powerful of labor spokesmen.

Manufacturers are certain to resist unionization vigorously. Among the questions still to be settled is that of industry's acceptance of the peace plan of the Winant mediation board. The union accepted this as a basis of ending the strike. The manufacturers, while generally expected to approve it, have given no formal answer.

The only place where the strike was known to be continuing was against the yarn manufacturers in New York City. It was explained that this branch of the industry is not covered by the Winant report.

FIRE DEPARTMENT GREETED HUEY LONG

MARKSVILLE, La., Sept. 24.—(UP)—They called out the fire department when Huey Long came to town but later they pronounced it a false alarm.

The Kingfish was making one of his political speeches Sunday before a crowd at the courthouse square. Right in the middle of his exhortations came the sound of sirens. A moment later Marksville's volunteer fire department rumbled into the square.

"They are a bunch of hoodlums," Senator Long described the volunteers to his listeners.

That was too much for some of the villagers, always loyal to home institutions. Pistols began. State highway patrolmen and the volunteer firemen were the principal combatants but Sheriff J. J. Jeannette separated the warring factions before any considerable physical damage resulted.

STORY IGNORED IN LINDY KIDNAPING

MONTPELIER, Vt., Sept. 24.—(UP)—Authorities admittedly were skeptical today of the story told by William E. Tendler, a CCC worker, that he was an eye witness to the Lindbergh kidnaping and that he recognized pictures of Bruno Richard Hauptmann as one of two men he saw near the Lindberghs' Hopewell estate the night of the abduction.

Tendler previously had written to New Jersey authorities, who dismissed his story.

Tendler, a World War veteran who formerly lived in Malden, Mass., expressed willingness to go to New York or New Jersey as an identifying witness.

Plans Call For Change In Policies

Rumored Bernard Baruch, New York, Will Be Head of Policy Board

BULLETIN
HYDE PARK, N. Y., Sept. 24.—(UP)—Selection of Bernard M. Baruch, New York financier, as head of a policy-making council for a reorganized NRA was regarded as a strong possibility today in sources close to the summer White House.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24.—(UP)—Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, due back today at his job of bossing NRA, will find his organization in confusion and his own days in the Blue Eagle's nest numbered.

Odds are better than even that the famous initials "NRA" will be abandoned altogether in the forthcoming reorganization.

Some influential persons believe NRA has become a political liability and that the sooner its identity is extinguished the better for the administration. But with the political tide as tested in Maine and elsewhere flowing strongly with President Roosevelt, there is no necessity for summary execution before the November elections. Whatever happens to NRA, some of its features—prohibition of child labor, a limited degree of industrial self-government, a guarantee of labor's rights—will be continued as New Deal policy.

Board Planned

In place of one-man rule by Johnson a separation of policy-making and administration has been proposed. This plan provides a board probably of governmental and industrial leaders to formulate policies. Johnson might find a seat on this board. Actual day-to-day running of NRA would be in the hands of a second group roughly similar to the group of NRA deputies who have been in technical charge of the organization during Johnson's absences.

Overhauling Johnson's personal misadventures as he returns to the job is bitter dispute developing.

DISASTER AVERTED AT SEA DURING FOG

BOSTON, Sept. 24.—(UP)—Disaster was narrowly averted early today after the 20,000-ton passenger liner Laconia and the 562-ton freighter Pan Royal collided in a "pea soup" fog two miles off the tip of Cape Cod.

No one was reported injured. The Pan Royal, formerly the Exford, carrying a crew of 40, proceeded cautiously toward Boston, with the coast guard cutter Thetis in her wake.

There was a big gash in her port side just above the waterline. The Laconia, with several hundred passengers still aboard after 225 had disembarked at Boston, proceeded toward New York, apparently undamaged.

FORMER ATHLETE IS HELD IN SLAYING

AUBURN, Cal., Sept. 24.—(UP)—William Hamilton, former Auburn high school athlete and amateur actor, was to be arraigned today on charges of murder in the slaying of his 22-year-old wife Lolita in her wake.

In a statement after the fatal shootings Saturday, the 29-year-old Hamilton said he had shot and killed his wife and Burnette when the woman admitted she loved Burnette.

Orrin Lowell, former Placer county district attorney, was retained as counsel for the accused man. Lowell immediately indicated the "unwritten law" and temporary insanity would form key stones of the defense.

HUNTERS ARE SNOWBOUND IN HIGH SIERRAS

Authorities Organize Rescue Parties to Locate Twenty-five Persons

TAHOE CITY, Cal., Sept. 24.—(UP)—Efforts to rescue 25 hunters snowbound in the wilderness west and south of here, were started from Lake Tahoe resorts today.

The hunters in two parties became marooned during the week end when a heavy snowstorm blocked their efforts to return to civilization. More than three feet of snow lay on the ground.

With horses and mules, Constable Bechtold and Phil Geiser of Reno, Nev., started on their way to reach Chief of Police and Mrs. Dan Armour of Pasadena and five members of their party marooned at West Meadows in the Hell Hole district 20 miles west of here.

Others in the Armour party were Mr. and Mrs. Jordan of Azusa, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Bailey and Joe Doelschel, of Pasadena.

A crew of men from Chambers Lodge drove 25 miles through deep snows to isolated Steamboat Bluff last night and rescued six men including Henry Ducker of Reno, who had to be carried four miles on a stretcher. He was suffering from exhaustion and the intense cold.

Eight other men were left at a hunting camp near Steamboat Bluff. A dog team driven by Ray Andrews of Brockway, and loaded with food and other supplies was to leave today to rescue them.

Those brought to Chambers Lodge last night included besides Ducker, his father, Roy Morris, of Patterson, Cal., and George Colwell, Tahoe City guide. Names of the other two were not known. They planned to return to their homes today.

The eight men remaining at the hunting camp included M. E. Rose, Ralph Rose, Frank Rose, Sid Bell, Tony Noons, and three men whose names were unknown, all of Newnam, Calif. They had been in the mountains during the past 10 days.

MORMON LEADER IS CALLED BY DEATH

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Sept. 24.—(UP)—Members of the L. D. S. (Mormon) church today mourned the death of Anthony W. Ivins, first counselor to the first presidency of the church.

He died Sunday, victim of a sudden heart attack, only seven days after he had celebrated his 82nd birthday.

Messages of condolence to his surviving wife and eight children arrived today at the family home from foreign missions.

Church leaders who carried on the work of Joseph Smith, Brigham Young, and the hardy pioneers who sought religious freedom in the desert wastes of Utah in 1847 sent words of sorrow and high praise for a great career from California, Arizona, Montana, Idaho and Nevada.

$15,000,000 MORE IS LOANED TO MWWD

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24.—(UP)—RFC Chairman Jesse H. Jones announced today that he had authorized two loans totaling $15,000,000 to Los Angeles, Cal.

One was an additional loan of $15,000,000 to the Metropolitan Water district, constructing a viaduct. The RFC previously loaned $40,000,000 on the project.

"They needed the definite authorization to make their contracts and carry on the work until next fall," Jones said. He said another loan of $1,000,000 was made to the disaster relief corporation of Los Angeles for flood control work.

RANSOM MONEY RECOVERED BY POLICE

Some of the $50,000 in gold certificates, used in the Lindbergh ransom attempt, which were recovered following the arrest of Bruno Richard Hauptmann after he used one of the bills to buy gasoline. New York police are shown surveying the bills recovered in the Hauptmann garage. A large sum was found secreted in the oil can shown below.

GATES HEIRESS BADLY INJURED IN AUTO CRASH

Husband Also Severely Hurt in Auto Accident Near Sacramento

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Sept. 24.—(UP)—Virginia Gates McCafferty's honeymoon tour in a second-hand 1925 model automobile, temporarily at least, ended today in a Sacramento hospital after an automobile accident in which a child was killed and the Philadelphia socialite received a fractured skull.

Six others were injured, including Daniel McCafferty, 26-year-old jobless mechanic whom the daughter of the president of the University of Pennsylvania met and married while hitch-hiking in Idaho last month.

Doctors held little hope for the recovery of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Johnson, whose seven-year-old daughter Ellen was killed in the crash at Dixon, near here last night.

Mrs. McCafferty and her husband are in serious, but not critical, condition at Sutter hospital. McCafferty also has a skull fracture. Others hurt in the crash were Edward McCafferty, 22, brother-in-law of the Philadelphia heiress; Gordon Bennett, El Centro, and Marjorie Johnson, 9-year old daughter of the Johnsons.

The three McCaffertys and

FUGITIVE SOUGHT AFTER KIDNAPING

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 24.—(UP)—John Baldwin, a seven-gun fugitive from Missouri, was sought in San Francisco today on information furnished by Mr. and Mrs. Raymond L. Stratton, whom he had forced to drive him to their Glendale home to Oakland.

The Strattons said the young desperado gave them a rifle as payment for the forced ride, and stuffing seven others guns into his clothes, left them to join "some pals in San Francisco."

From descriptions provided by the kidnaped couple, police identified the youth as Baldwin and said he was associated with George Alton, whom police in Los Angeles captured in a gun battle.

The Strattons returned home yesterday after their unexpected visit to the bay district. They spent Saturday night with Miss Clyde Fleming, Oakland, Mrs. Stratton's sister.

And These Hats Are Not Overly Large

HOUSTON, Tex., Sept. 24.—(UP)—Never did Sailor H. M. Smith have a more auspicious occasion to light a cigarette and be nonchalant than he had today.

Sailor Smith, fresh from the cruiser Houston, fell asleep in his hotel room while smoking a cigaret. A spark set the bed afire. He awoke to find flames all around him.

So he leaped from the second story window to the sidewalk, shouting "fire." "Where's your clothes?" demanded a policeman attracted by laughter from a crowd.

It was then that Sailor Smith discovered he was clad in nothing but his hat.

HARBOR WORK IS LAUNCHED ON SATURDAY

SIXTEEN hundred tons of Catalina Island rock were dropped into the sea at a spot which will mark the end of the extended west jetty at the Newport Harbor entrance Saturday afternoon, as work on the $2,000,000 federal harbor improvement program commenced.

Approximately 325,000 tons of rock will be used in the completed extensions, the first load being placed 950 feet off the end of the present jetty. Barge loads of the rock will be placed daily for about three months, officials of the Rohl Connelly company of San Pedro, successful contractors for the job, stated. The work will be done at a cost of $557,790.

A large group of officials, including Congressman Sam Collins and members of the board of directors of the Newport Harbor Chamber of Commerce attended the ceremonies at the inauguration of work. President A. B. Rousseau of the chamber officially christened the first load of rock to be dumped.

Congressman Sam Collins and Supervisor George Jeffery participated in the ceremonies starting the first load of rock on its way to the bottom of 50 feet of water at the jetty end. Supervisor Jeffery swinging a sledge loosening the load. Fire whistles, boat whistles and bells throughout the city marked the dumping of the load.

The official party witnessing the ceremonies included Supervisors

1000 STUDENTS AT H. S. STRIKE AGAINST HOURS

School Superintendent and Principal Jeered and Stoned by Youths

BROCKTON, Mass., Sept. 24.—(UP)—Striking students stoned Brockton high school and jeered the school superintendent and headmaster today in a wild demonstration which was broken up by police.

The students—1000 boys and girls—struck against a 30-minute extension of school hours.

About 3000 students assembled in front of the school this morning.

They had threatened to strike because the school board insisted that the hours should continue as 8 a. m. to 1:45 p. m., instead of 8 to 1:15 as last year.

They tried to organize a committee to go in and wait upon school officials. Police announced that pupils would be admitted only if they intended to study.

After 2000 had gone in, School Superintendent John F. Scully appeared on the porch of the main building. He greeted the 1000 outside and sought to convince them that they should go to class.

Boos and catcalls returned his greeting, and at least two stones were hurled at the school.

A police delegation escorted Headmaster John L. Miller into the school amid more jeers.

The leader of 75 policemen at the scene gave the students 10 minutes in which to go in.

When this ultimatum was unheeded, police herded the demonstrators away from the school.

PROBE INTO DEATH OF SAILOR'S WIFE

SAN PEDRO, Cal., Sept. 24.—(UP)—Circumstances surrounding the death of Mrs. Jeannette Bryant, wife of a navy enlisted man, were investigated today by police who at the same time held as a material witness Edward Britton, ship salvage worker.

Britton, describing himself a boarder, said Mrs. Bryant fell off her back porch after they returned home from a tour of beer and wine parlors. He said he called a physician when her condition "seemed to be worse."

Dr. Roy D. Smith, who was summoned, said he found the victim dead. Her face bruised and battered.

Mrs. Bryant's husband, Wade F. Bryant, is attached to submarine S-24 at Pearl Harbor.

GRAND JURY OPENS PROBE IN NEW YORK

Hauptmann Attorney Says New Developments Will Split Case "Wide Open"

Federal Officers Declare German Carpenter Shows Signs of Breaking Down

BULLETIN

AMARILLO, Tex., Sept. 24.—(UP)—Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh, en route east, landed their small airplane near Spearman, Tex., 80 miles northeast of here, shortly before noon today and after an hour and a half stop proceeded on their journey.

NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—(UP)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh was understood to be flying eastward to New York to confront Bruno R. Hauptmann, to try to identify him as a man Lindbergh saw at the scene of ransom payment to kidnapers of his infant son.

The disclosure that Lindbergh, speeding from California by airplane, might be able to identify Hauptmann as a man he saw when Dr. J. F. (Jafse) Condon handed over the $50,000 ransom, came while a grand jury was considering extortion charges against the prisoner.

Meanwhile, Hauptmann's attorney promised new and startling developments which would split the case "wide open" again. The attorney conferred with the prisoner while Mrs. Hauptmann and her small son waited in another room. It was said she probably would not see her husband today.

Lindbergh also will be asked to examine photographs of Isidor Fisch who Hauptmann says gave him the ransom money found in his possession.

The flier saw a man outside St. Raymond's cemetery in the Bronx on the night the ransom money was paid to a man he knew as "John".

Fact Kept Secret
Authorities kept this fact secret to keep the kidnappers from possible efforts to prevent the flier from testifying, it was said.

On the night of April 2, 1932, while Condon was in one part of the cemetery, Lindbergh waited in an automobile outside the gate.

A man passed by several times, one with a handkerchief held in his possession.

front of his face. Lindbergh said later he might be able to identify the stranger.

The filer's report of this person was one of the main facts which led authorities to believe that more than one man was involved in the kidnapping. Lindbergh's description of the man he saw, it was learned, differs from that of Hauptmann. It is closer to the description of Fisch, who died in Germany last year.

With Lindbergh in the automobile, it was reported, was Col. Henry Breckenridge, his counsel.

Seek Accomplice

Federal agents today were on the trail of a man believed to have been an accomplice of Bruno Hauptmann in the Lindbergh kidnapping.

Authoritative sources, it was learned, now lean to belief that the kidnapping was a family job. On this basis, it was believed that the person now being sought likely was a relative of Hauptmann.

At the same time it was learned that Hauptmann, still regarded as the "key man," was showing signs of breaking under the persistent questioning of prosecutors, police and federal agents in New York. This raised hope that the German carpenter might yield a confession after all.

Where the search for the supposed accomplice centers could not be learned, it was understood, however, that Director J. Edgar Hoover of the justice department's division of investigation was prepared to return to New York on a moment's notice.

Other developments:—

Taken to Court

1—The prisoner, accused of extortion in receiving the Lindbergh ransom money, was taken into custody by police officers and taken to court where his arraignment was put over for one week.

2—Witnesses began telling the story of the kidnapping and ransom negotiations before the grand jury.

3—New Jersey completed plans for extraditing Hauptmann to that state to face murder and kidnapping charges.

4—New Jersey police who investigated an Ohio prisoner's story that he had advance information from Hauptmann on the kidnapping said the story was "vivid invention."

Col. Henry Breckenridge, attorney for Lindbergh, telephoned from Buffalo that he was delayed and would not be able to appear before the grand jury until tomorrow.

WILL ROGERS says:

S. S. ILE DE FRANCE, Sept. 24.—(To The Editor of The Register:—) You know the American business man or traveler from home is a queer duck all over Europe and a couple of days ago on the boat they were saying, "I tell you I am afraid of things at home, it don't look good to me." Well for the last couple of days the market has picked up and today's news said the strikers went back to work. Now they are running around the boat grinning like a possum. Imagine people whose whole idea of our country is gained from what it does every day in a stock market.

a leg injury by Dr. Otto Meyer, authorities requested hospitals in the metropolitan area to check their records from March 1, 1932, the day of the kidnapping, to Jan. 1, 1933. There has been suspicion that the kidnaper was hurt when the ladder he used broke.

They were working on the theory that Hauptmann had received treatment prior to his first visit to the New York physician. Officials in constant touch with the hattering questioning of Hauptmann said he had not yet confessed.

It was understood that under grilling by federal agents, New York and New Jersey police and prosecutors, Hauptmann had made several changes in earlier statements and hints of admission of complicity in the case.

It was learned, meantime, that Attorney General Homer S. Cummings expects to be in New York Thursday.

While his immediate purpose is to address a women's conference there, it was believed likely that he might meet Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, who is now enroute to New York to assist prosecution of the case against Hauptmann.

Officials said Cummings would make no overtures to take any personal part in the prosecution but it was possible that he would confer with District Attorney Foley who is handling the prosecution.

CAPTAIN WARMS BACK ON STAND TO TELL STORY

NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—(UP)—Captain Robert R. Willmott of the burned Morro Castle locked himself in his cabin about 16 hours before the fire because he feared George I. Alagna, second radio operator, would throw acid on him. Acting Captain William F. Warms testified today.

Warms, recalled before the department of commerce inquiry into the disaster that cost 134 lives, said the captain summoned him to his stateroom at 10 a. m., Friday, Sept. 7.

The captain told him, he said, that Alagna had "a bottle of sulphuric acid" and that he was worried. Willmott added that he was going to keep his door locked for fear Alagna would throw the acid on him, Warms said.

Willmott died that evening, six hours before the fire broke out. Death was ascribed to heart disease.

The captain gave no explanation of his fear for Alagna and also refused to have Alagna put in irons and his stateroom searched, Warms testified.

"He is so damned smart he wouldn't keep anything around his room," Warms quoted Willmott as saying. Warms said as a result of this incident he gave the night watchman the following instructions:

"For God's sake, watch that fellow Alagna. He's liable to start something. The captain's very worried."

Warms did not mention the incident when he was on the stand last week. Since his last appearance, however, Alagna testified and described Warms as one of a "bunch of madmen" in command of the ship after the fire broke out. Warms, Alagna charged, appeared not to know "what it was all about."

"Do you deny there was any disorganization on the bridge?" Warms was asked.

"I absolutely do," he replied.

Warms estimated the fire started at a few minutes before 3 a. m. He said he ordered the quartermaster to turn the wheel "hard left at 3:02 a. m., so as to ward the ship around in the wind and center the fire forward. At 3:03 he began to stop the vessel, heading toward the beach slowly so that boats could be lowered, he said.

The steering gear was put out of order at 3:11, he added, and after that all steering was done by means of the engines. At 3:12 he was impressed, he said, that it was "a large fire." He gave the S. O. S. order "around 3:18."

Warms contradicted Alagna's testimony when he said that Alagna went to the bridge only three times before getting the S. O. S. order. Alagna had testified he made seven trips to the bridge and then got the S. O. S. order only after he had warned the acting captain that George W. Rogers, chief radio operator, might not live to send it if it were delayed much longer.

Warms also said he gave the instructions for the original radio "CQ," or stand by call. This is at variance with Rogers' testimony that he sent the CQ on his own initiative.

Referring to testimony last week that the fire may have started in number three hold the day before the disaster, the investigators asked Warms if he had heard of it. Warms said he knew of no such fire.

FIRST JETTY ROCK DUMPED

Nearly 2000 tons of Santa Catalina Island rock were dumped Saturday afternoon at the entrance to Newport Harbor, marking the start of construction work on jetty extensions, to be completed at a cost of more than $500,000. MAYOR ISSUES 18 ARRESTED ON PROCLAMATION LOUOR COUNTS ON P.-T.A. WEEK OVER WEEKEND

A proclamation by Mayor E. G. Warner setting aside the current week as "Parent-Teacher Week" in Santa Ana, today marked the launching of a concerted county-wide drive for new P.-T. A. memberships which will continue throughout the week.

The proclamation by Mayor Warner said: "Recognizing the value of the Parent-Teacher association in the community and the need of concerted effort on the part of parents and teachers and all those interested in the welfare of the child to maintain wholesome surroundings and provide better opportunities for young people to develop into healthy, dependable citizens; believing that the P.-T. A. is contributing a real service to the city through its constructive program of child welfare work, I call on the citizens of Santa Ana to support the organization this coming year in its worthwhile work and do officially declare this week, beginning September 24, 1934, P.-T. A. Week."

Mrs. W. E. R. Crawford today broadcast a desire to locate a child whose initials are P. T. A. to act as mascot for the membership campaign in Santa Ana this week. She asked that anyone knowing of a child with such initials telephone the Santa Ana Council of parents and teachers at 2812-R.

The slogan of the campaign will be "Every Parent a Member," Mrs. W. T. Kirven, Garden Grove, president of the Fourth District, announced in connection with the drive. The 70 associations in Orange county, which had a membership aggregating $100 last year, hope to double the figure this year. Special efforts will be made to interest more fathers in the work of the organization.

Endorsement of the proposed constitutional amendment to "take California judges out of politics," by making their offices appointive instead of elective, was voted by the state convention of the California Bar association at Pasadena Saturday, after the amendment was reported favorably to the convention by a committee headed by City Attorney Harry L. Dearing, of Orange.

Other Orange county lawyers on the committee were Leonard Evans and George Holden, of Anaheim; Raymond Thompson, of Fullerton; Ray H. Overacker, Huntington Beach; and Ira Kroese, of Santa Ana.

More than a thousand lawyers attended the session, over which Judge John Perry Wood, Los Angeles, vice-president of the state bar, presided. Among those attending from Orange county, besides the committee members were Judge F. C. Drumm, George Varnum and George H. McBurney.

Warms estimated the fire started at a few minutes before 3 a. m. He said he ordered the quartermaster to turn the wheel "hard left at 3:02 a. m., so as to ward the ship around in the wind and center the fire forward. At 3:03 he began to stop the vessel, heading toward the beach slowly so that boats could be lowered, he said.

The steering gear was put out of order at 3:11, he added, and after that all steering was done by means of the engines. At 3:12 he was impressed, he said, that it was "a large fire." He gave the S. O. S. order "around 3:18."

Warms contradicted Alagna's testimony when he said that Alagna went to the bridge only three times before getting the S. O. S. order. Alagna had testified he made seven trips to the bridge and then got the S. O. S. order only after he had warned the acting captain that George W. Rogers, chief radio operator, might not live to send it if it were delayed much longer.

Warms also said he gave the instructions for the original radio "CQ," or stand by call. This is at variance with Rogers' testimony that he sent the CQ on his own initiative.

Referring to testimony last week that the fire may have started in number three hold the day before the disaster, the investigators asked Warms if he had heard of it. Warms said he knew of no such fire.

INSTALL TELESCOPE ON HIGH MOUNTAIN

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Sept. 24.—(UP)—Preparations for installing the world's largest telescope on mile-high Palomar mountain moved ahead today following purchase of a 160 acre tract by the California Institute of Technology. Attorney H. W. O'Melveny of Los Angeles, attorney for the institute, signed closing papers on the deal yesterday with William and Kenneth Beech. San Diego county supervisors will cut a road up the mountain at the request of officials of the institute, owners of the telescope.

Bennett were en route to El Centro, Cal., from Salt Lake City in an automobile purchased with funds sent the 23-year-old Philadelphia girl by her father, Thomas Gates, university president and former partner in a banking firm affiliated with the J. P. Morgan interests.

Virginia Gates McCafferty disappeared from a Wyoming dude ranch this summer. While police searched the west for her on belief she may have been kidnapped, she was hitch-hiking. She met Dan McCafferty, Irish wanderer, and they were married after a brief courtship.

They admitted their marriage to a Boise official and then notified her parents. Gates sent them money with which they financed the trip to El Centro, where McCafferty formerly was employed and where they planned to reside.

The lens was cast for a telescope to be erected at the McDonald observatory, maintained jointly by the universities of Texas and Chicago.

PLANS CALLING FOR CHANGE IN POLICY HEARD

ing between labor and industry over NRA's future. Disagreement centers around Section 7-A, the National Industrial Recovery act guarantee that labor shall have the right to bargain collectively.

The NRA committee of the United States Chamber of Commerce took the initiative this week in demand for drastic limitation of NRA scope. The recommendation was accompanied by prayerful entreaty for amendment of the labor clauses of the act.

Wants Break

Industry wants to break the American Federation of Labor toehold on future unionization of workers. Industry points out that membership in the proscribed "company unions" may not be made a condition of employment.

Therefore, it is insisting that neither shall employees be compelled to join the American Federation of Labor or any other union to obtain a job.

Organized labor's counter offensive will be launched next week from San Francisco, where the A. F. of L. meets in annual convention.

The ultimate decision must rest with President Roosevelt. His own ruling laid down when automobile workers were on the verge of strike was not for majority rule.

It provided that the majority and minority groups of workers—one assumed to represent organized labor and the other a company union—should bargain separately if they desired.

Unless Mr. Roosevelt takes a definite position on this question before January the dispute will be carried into congress. Meantime there is no reason to believe that the strike epidemic has ended.

A WORD OF COMFORT

Idle controversy accomplishes nothing. Petty discussions and disputes waste your strength. Wrangling with other doubting Thomases will bring you no standards to live by.
The need of your soul is to find God. Broaden your faith, not your doubts. Strive to be loyal to what you believe to be true, instead of talking about the mistakes which you think others are making, and you will come to know Him.

REPORT LITTLE DAMAGE DONE TO BEAN CROP

Small benefit to agriculture in Orange county resulted from sporadic showers which fell throughout the county over the week end. The showers were reported to have done no harm to beans, other than slowing up threshing operations slightly.

It was the second rainfall of the current season, the first precipitation occurring on August 19 to the accompaniment of a freak electrical and thunder storm which caused considerable damage to power and telephone lines in the county.

Laguna Beach received the most rainfall during the week end storm with a total of .59 inches for the period. Santa Ana received .16 inches, bringing the season total to .19 inches. The spotted showers brought but a trace of rain to the Garden Grove section and small amounts in other sections. Blank spaces in the table above indicate that records were not available in the "This Year" column and that the same situation obtained in the "Last Year" column except where no rainfall occurred at this time last year.

CHILD FALLS FROM TRUCK; IS KILLED

Yesterday the father and another man were taking the truck out, and little Shoji was allowed to clamber into the back of the truck. No one seems to know what happened, or how it happened, but the boy fell from the truck, his head struck the hard pavement, and he died instantly of a fractured skull.

He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. Yoshinaga. Funeral services will be held from the Nishi Japanese Temple in Los Angeles tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, under the direction of Winbigler's Funeral home. Cremation will follow at Evergreen cemetery.

Service Station Locks Are Broken

Eight gallons of oil and two cans were stolen from the Shell service station at 101 highway and Central avenue, La Habra, Saturday night, according to Deputy Sheriffs Steinberger and Lutes who investigated. Entrance was gained by breaking the lock on the front door of the station. An attempt to burglarize the Leiner station at the same intersection had also been made, the officers found, and locks on the pump and station door had been broken. A double lock system prevented entrance to the station and only a small quantity of gasoline had been taken.

PICK WINNER IN HUSBAND CALLING TEST

Mrs. August Heilmann, of Foothill Farm Center, today held undisputed title as the champion husband-caller of Orange county following her win in a unique contest staged Saturday afternoon at Irvine park in connection with the annual picnic of the Orange County Farm Bureau.

The winner out-called five other contestants in a close match for the high honors. Mrs. Heilmann first tied with Mrs. A. E. Christensen of Anaheim for first place. After these two women tried again, the judges, Superior Court Judge Homer G. Ames, Farm Advisor Harold E. Wahlberg and Assistant Farm Advisor W. M. Cory, declared Mrs. Heilmann the winner.

Other contestants in the husband-calling contest were Mrs. F.

L. Wilson, of Tustin Center; Mrs. G. C. Bradford, of West Orange Center; Mrs. W. G. Broadway, of Garden Grove Center, and Mrs. A. C. Pickering, of Yorba Linda Center.

The attendance was lighter than was expected, due to the inclement weather, the Pomona fair and the windup of the bean harvest. About 400 farmers and their families enjoyed a farm picnic dinner, after which a musical program was presented, featuring group singing led by Frank Pierce, musical director of the First Christian church of Santa Ana.

Pierce also sang solo numbers, as did Sally Lee Scales, popular Orange county vocalist. The two singers also presented two duet numbers. Miss Ruth Armstrong accompanied at the piano. Pierce's voice made such an impression on R. W. Blackburn, president of the California Farm Bureau Federation, that an attempt is being made to get him to lead the community singing at the annual California Farm Bureau Federation meeting in Bakersfield in November.

Following the musical program, games and stunts, including two ball games, occupied the balance of the afternoon.

In a brief talk, President Blackburn discussed the accomplishments of the American Farm Bureau Federation. He urged farmers to remember that for the first time in the history of American agriculture the farmers had legislation in the AAA under which it could bring about the stabilization of its various commodities. He also urged them to realize that this act was drawn by leaders of organized agriculture and that while the enforcement feature was not entirely satisfactory, that many of these agreements were working to the great advantage of the farmer, such as the citrus and walnut agreements, and that they were made possible through the organized leadership of agriculture.

In closing his address, he warned against political propaganda he said is being put out against the agricultural program by politicians and by groups who are alarmed lest agriculture should finally get itself in a position to establish and maintain parity prices with other groups.

CHRIST KNOCKS AT EVERY DOOR SAYS PREACHER

Christ stands at every man's door, ready to enter if the door is opened to him. Captain C. W. Gallipoli of the Salvation Army, declared in his sermon Sunday at the chapel. His subject, "Christ at the Door," was taken from Revelations 3:20, "Behold, I stand at the door, and knock: if any man hear my voice, and open the door, I will come in to him."

Captain Gallipoli said, in part: "The Bible is full of pictures; no book has supplied art galleries and homes with so many beautiful pictures—no two alike. One of the most famous pictures based on Scripture is Holman Hunt's 'The Light of the World,' depicting Christ at the closed door of the heart."

"Did the great artist intend his picture to suggest it was Christ's last knock—His last appeal? The head of the Savior leans slightly towards the closed door, and the anxious look in His face would seem to say, 'This is an important call. It's my last visit.'"

"The word 'Behold!' is like a bell in the hand of a village bellman who goes out to make an announcement. The bell is to secure attention, a listening ear; then follows the pronouncement."

"In our text four things of great importance are said: Two refer to Christ's attitude to the sinner, and two to the attitude the sinner should show to Christ."

"What Jesus does: (a) 'I stand.' Thank God He does not pass by. He stands within the reach of every heart. During His earthly ministry there were times when even His chosen disciples were left alone. Occasions when the 'throng passed Him' and they could not reach their Savior; times when He drew Himself away to some secluded place to pray. Praise God today He is ever near, and pays individual attention to every sinner; stands at each heart's door. What comforting words in the song: 'God is near thee, tell thy story. He will hear thy tale of sorrow.'"

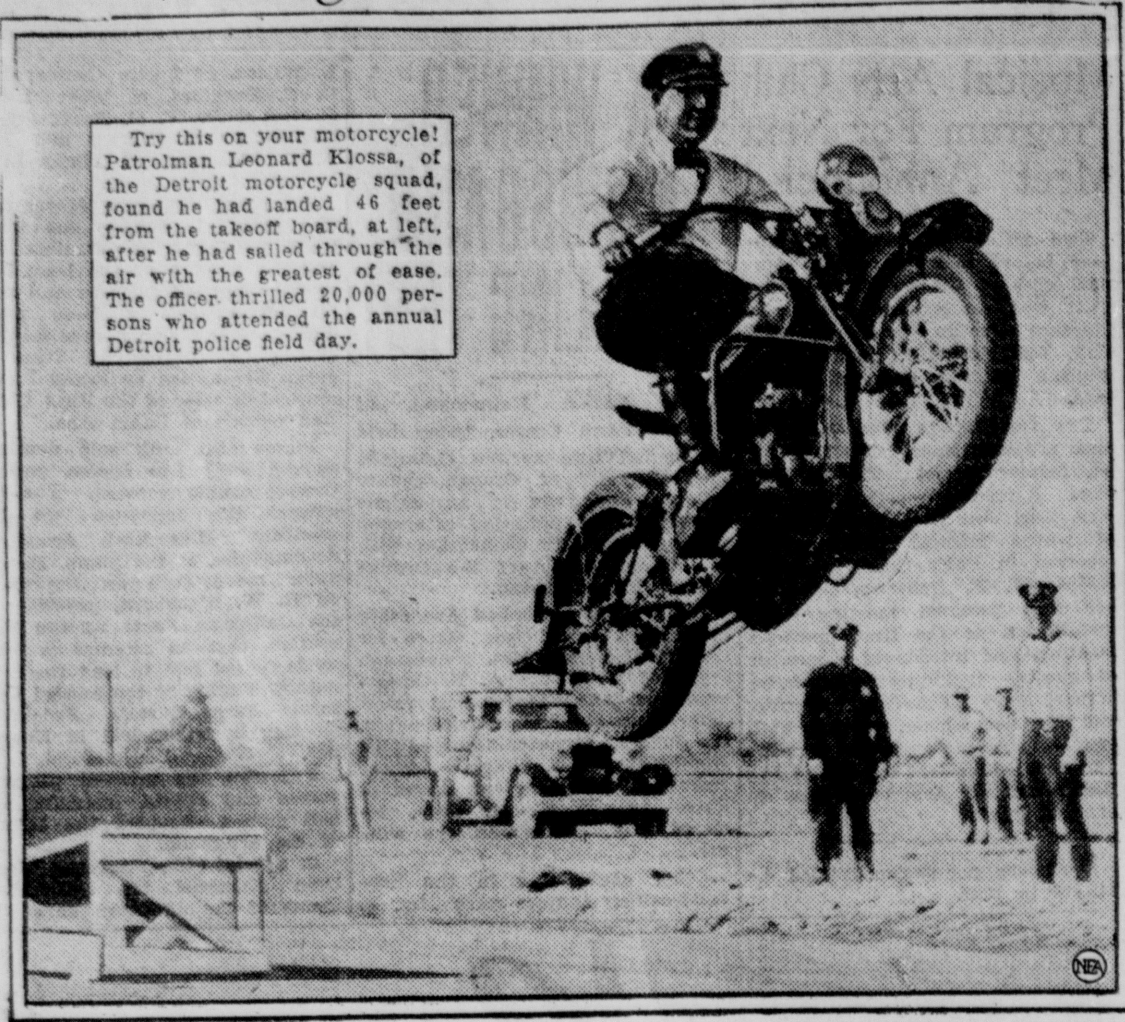

"Yet if He simply stood, and remained passive at the door of the heart, the sinner might have an excuse at the judgment bar. He might in defense say, 'I did not know you were there.' But every excuse is eliminated, for we find Jesus in action."

"(b) 'I... knock!' The Savior of man assumes an attitude likely to arrest attention. One standing at the ocean shore watching the great waves roll in. Near him was an unsaved man. In my amazement I remarked about the volume and might of the ocean. The sinner looked seaward for a moment, then answered with just one word, 'God.'"

"Sometimes Christ 'moves in a mysterious way, His wonders to perform.' He knocks through sickness, death, disappointment, and through preaching and singing of the Gospel. Yes, He knocks

Taking Off on Distance Flight

Try this on your motorcycle! Patrolman Leonard Klossa, of the Detroit motorcycle squad, found he had landed 46 feet from the takeoff board, at left, after he had sailed through the air with the greatest of ease. The officer thrilled 20,000 persons who attended the annual Detroit police field day.

In many ways, but always with the one objective—that the door may be opened to Him.

"How beautifully the mission of Jesus explains the heart of our Heavenly Father towards mankind: 'Say unto them... I have no pleasure in the death of the wicked; but that the wicked turn from his way and live.' Ezekiel 33:11."

"One time I was called on to pray with an elderly man who was dying. He had a nice little home and lovely family. One of his married sons led me to his bedside. Almost before I could speak the old man told me this story: 'All my life I've felt the urge to be a Christian, and had really intended to someday give God my heart. But time has won the race. Won't you pray with me?' Needless to say I did pray, we both prayed. While returning from the home I thought of the patient, loving Savior's words: 'Behold! I stand at the door and knock!' He had knocked for years."

"2.—What the Sinner Should Do: (a) 'If any man hear my voice.' How heedless men are of His call, so like the poem: 'Room for business, room for pleasure. But for Christ the Crucified, Not a place that He can enter, In the heart for which He Died.'"

"Thus, many people go on in their sin, grieving God as though He had never spoken. But if forgiveness from the bitter consequences of wrong doing depended only upon hearing the truth, very many would be saved. For the clarion call of the Gospel may be heard on the streets, over the radio, in the churches and many other places. Something more than hearing is required."

"(b) 'Open the door...' Possibly you have heard the gentle voice of God pleading for your soul. Why not open your heart to Him now? Christ's work is to stand and knock; your part is to hear and open. You can open your heart's door by the power of prayer. Will you let Jesus come into your heart just now?"

"Behold, me standing at the door, And hear me pleading evermore, Say weary heart, oppressed by sin, May I come in? May I come in?"

Christian Science

"Matter" was the subject of the lesson-sermon yesterday at the Santa Ana First Church of Christ, Scientist. The Golden Text was from the Psalms: "Tremble, thou earth, at the presence of the Lord, at the presence of the God of Jacob."

A Scriptural citation in the lesson-sermon included the verses from the Acts: "And by the hands of the apostles were many signs and wonders wrought among the people; (and they were all with one accord in Solomon's porch. . . . And believers were the more added to the Lord, multitudes both of men and women.) . . . There came also a multitude out of the cities round about unto Jerusalem, bringing sick folks, and them which were vexed with unclean spirits: and they were healed every one."

A passage from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, stated, "In Latin the word rendered 'disciple' signifies student; and the word indicates that the power of healing was not a supernatural gift to those learners, but the result of their cultivated spiritual understanding of the divine science, which their Master demonstrated by healing the sick and sinning."

News Of Fullerton and Vicinity

INDIANS, BACK IN LEAGUE, OUT FOR GRID TITLE

FULLERTON, Sept. 24.—"On to a league pennant!" This is the battle cry of Don Cruickshank's Fullerton high school Indians, who for the first time in four years find themselves in an alignment of their caliber.

With the heaviest team since he took over the coaching reins here in 1921, Cruickshank's prospects of giving Fullerton a championship are good.

The Indians are in the Foothill league after two hectic free-lance years, preceded by two uneventful Coast league seasons. It was the Foothill league that gave the Braves their last title in '29.

With six husky lettermen returning, Cruickshank will put a team on the field averaging 163 pounds. The key positions of the forward wall will be handled by veterans and the backfield will have both speed and stamina.

Strong Line Assured

Gordon Donaldson, Lester Evans and Howard Lauterborn are capably handling the flanks in practice, while Felix Basabe and Floyd Young, tackles, and Connie Ridgeway and John Mayfield, guards, with Lou Herbst at center, assure Fullerton of a strong forward pull.

In John Raitt and Pershing Hodgson, veteran halfbacks, the Indians have expert blocking for Don Clark and Norman Christensen, light but aggressive quarterbacks. LeRoy Clark and Francis LaPointe have shown promise as driving fullbacks.

For the past 10 years Fullerton has been bitten by the championship bug. After monopolizing Orange league honors four successive years, culminated by a Southern California championship in '27, the Indians won the Foothill flag. From 1924 to 1929 defeat was seldom tasted. Fullerton won 50 games while losing 12 and tying 3.

Since 1929 they have been lucky to break even, winning 17, losing 14, tying 7.

Cruickshank's Record Good

Fullerton has won 16, lost 8, tied 4 under the Cruickshank regime, beginning in '31.

With lights being installed in the new stadium by the junior college, several night games have been booked. The complete Fullerton high school schedule follows:

PILLS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24.—One thing everyone here now concedes is that these New Dealers can take nearly anything with a smile. They have been able to conceal their real feelings about some of these Democratic primary results only with great effort, but the effort never was greater than when the man Bilbo won the other day in Mississippi.

You may not know Mr. Bilbo, but you will. He will become a United States senator next January. For the following six years he will be a national character surpassing Huey Long. He has promised it.

As one astute New Dealer remarked after hearing of Bilbo's victory:

"All the senate now needs to become a minstrel show is a brass band. Bilbo and Long are the two best end men in politics."

TECHNIQUE

The secret of Mr. Bilbo's success is not what you may think. He is not anti-New Deal. Nor does his election mean that Mississippi has been reformed. He made a good record in his first term as governor and still is supported by many of the best families in the state, as well as the backwoodsman.

The best authorities on politics there seem to agree his victory can be traced to two things: (1) The unpopularity of his opponent and (2) Mr. Bilbo's promise of all things to all men.

His political technique is amazing. He has been accused of nearly everything under the sun and a few things over it, and he never denies anything. Indeed, he makes a virtue out of most accusations.

For instance, a tale is told about how one of his opponents in a gubernatorial campaign accused him of being too much of a ladies' man. He chose to make a reply at a women's political rally, where he said in effect:

"The man Bilbo (he always looks at himself objectively) is fifty-two years old. He has been accused of being a ladies' man. He does not deny that accusation, but says that any man who is fifty-two years old and is still a ladies' man is the kind of a man you want for governor."

BACKGROUND

It is also whispered that, in another campaign, he was caught in a rather embarrassing position because the candidate for whom he was campaigning was dying. Mr. Bilbo did not bat an eye. Said he:

"I would rather vote for a man in a graveyard with a good respectable name than the rest of these piddling heads who are running around dead but won't lie down."

Some of the newspapers in his state have said some things about him in fighting words. He has been on both the receiving and sending end of bribery charges. One newspaper once commented on the fact that he hid in a barn from a court subpoena by expressing commiseration for the animals in the barn. To all of which Mr. Bilbo turned the other cheek.

When a jury absolved him in a malfeasance case, he took occasion to say that perhaps the judge, the prosecutor and some other people thought him guilty, but he sided with the jury. Also, he is the man who made that groundless assertion in the 1928 campaign that the Republican presidential candidate had danced with a negro.

GULP

The New Deal attitude is illustrated by what Chester Davis (AAA administrator) said in jest. He thought it spoke well for Agriculture Secretary Wallace's political acumen that, in six months, Wallace was able to develop a man capable of winning a senatorial nomination.

The truth is the New Dealers would not give Bilbo a good job. In order to take care of him, they gave him a desk in the AAA and permitted him to clip newspapers at a salary of $6500 a year, a fact they may later have cause to regret.

Nevertheless, Mr. Bilbo will probably vote with the New Deal in most important matters. He will go wild carefully and only on his pet subjects, such as the cash bonus, and the redistribution of wealth.

But his election and some of the others mean a tempestuous and amusing congressional circus this winter.

OHIO

Another spot which has caused the New Dealers to be less happy than their public statements indicate is in Ohio.

The New Deal generalissimo here have heard that Democratic Senate Candidate Donahy will make a speech to the state convention shortly promising to defend the constitution. Private polls have indicated Donahy will win in November. Private information indicates he will support the New Dealers only when he thinks they are right, which may not be as often as they expect.

The serious point about the Bilbo case, the Donahy case and the Upton Sinclair case in California is that Chairman Farley is trying to take them all under his wing and it is beginning to look as though the wing may eventually become bigger than the chicken.

NEWCOMER?

Certain agents for President Roosevelt have been working on the inside the last few days to get Calvin Magruder (another Harvard law school man) appointed to Garrison's place as head of the national labor board.

STEAM

You will shortly hear the railroads beginning to blow off some steam for their rights. The young men high in railroad organizations have been stoking the boilers on the Q.T. for some weeks now.

That is the real reason the resignation of J. J. Pelley as president of the N. Y. N. H. and H. will be announced soon. Announcement has been delayed because of an inside row regarding his successor. He will head a new national railroad group organization to be called the American Railroad Institute. It will supersede the two old inadequate rail trade organizations.

NEW YORK

GRILLED

Never let it be said that Senator Nye picks pushovers for his munitions investigation. Well posted New Yorkers learn that the mighty Morgan firm is due for another roasting on the Washington grill.

While some of the stuff Nye plans to spring is ancient history, it will still make hot headlines. For instance, he will revive the charge that the Balfour-Vivian mission to the United States before we entered the World War was arranged by Morgan interests. There was talk in inner circles at the time that this was done to help stir up the war fever here and thus save France and England from a smash that would have cost the Morgans and their associates billions.

It's unlikely that Nye's committee can produce specific evidence to prove that Morgan interests pushed us into the scrap. But he can show that they pocketed huge profits out of wartime activities and the betting is 10 to 1 the hearing will leave the public with the impression that the house trapped us into our share of the holocaust for its own gain.

SWAP

The Morgans are well aware what's in the wind and don't relish the prospect of being tossed to the senate lions to make a New Deal holiday one little bit. They've been pulling all the wires there are to try to head it off—so far to no avail.

But the informed believe there's still one chance for them to escape the inquisition. Morgan interests have been the backstage general staff for the vigorous conservative assault on the New Deal—which is growing in intensity and threatening to make hash of recovery. It's possible that the administration might intervene to spare them from the rack in exchange for genuine support of its program.

New York sharps say such a swap would be well worth the administration's while. It would not kill off opposition to the New Deal but would yank out its eye teeth. The firm's influence in finance and industry is still far more pervasive than most people realize. As for the Morgans, even the bitterness of surrender might be preferable to another public castigation.

VILLAINY

Aircraft people got a nasty jolt from the Nye committee's freedom with names. They weren't prepared for any such sandpapering of their customers' sensibilities and they're sick when they think what it will do to their South American business. One order for U. S. planes has already been cancelled—to be relet to the British—and they fear that's only the beginning.

Doubly villainous to the exporters is Nye's stirring up of resentment that will wreck their non-military sales. They insist it's nonsense to talk about turning commercial models into fighters. As for engines—"If they're munitions, so is gasoline. It might be used in a pursuit ship too."

PUBLIC

Textile interests are still hoping to use the silk industry as an entering wedge for the kind of strike settlement they want—despite NRA rejection of that industry's proposal for a public hearing on the merits of the strike. The offer was turned down chiefly because its acceptance would have put NRA even further in wrong with labor than it is already. The textile employers detect an ominous rise in the Perkins influence and they're anxious to concoct an antidote before it's too late. They have a horrid conviction that Perkins ascendancy forebodes a labor victory.

Silk has been chosen to carry their banner because Peter Van Horn—head of the silk code authority—has prepared a beautiful case to prove that the silk employees have no complaints of their own and that their walkout was purely sympathetic and therefore unjustified. Textile leaders believe that once this idea is firmly registered it will alienate public sympathy from the strikers and distract attention from the grievances claimed by the cotton workers.

This public relations angle is something new in labor dispute technique. Many interested employers are convinced they'll win if only they can swing public opinion definitely their way.

SOLIDARITY

It hasn't been easy for industrial leaders to keep the mill-owners in line for a common policy. They find it necessary to keep harping on the point that no company involved in the strike should make a separate peace with its workers and they feel the game is up unless this warning is heeded. There isn't as much solidarity on the side of capital as you might suppose. Mills which are still in operation haven't hesitated to make hay at the expense of their less fortunate brethren—and you should hear some of the names

ITALY'S PLANS
ARE DISCUSSED
BY EVANGELIST

ORANGE, Sept. 24.—Speaking at the Women's clubhouse Sunday night on the topic "Mussolini—Will He Bring Europe to His Feet and Make Italy Supreme?" Elder B. R. Spear declared that Mussolini has made great efforts to unite certain forces.

The evangelist presented scripture showing that the nation Israel was a Theocracy—that is—a kingdom where God personally and directly ruled through His prophets, so that David's throne was said to be "the throne of the Lord." 1 Chron. 29:23.

Elder Spear said: "Prophecy traces the throne of God on earth in these words, 'I will overturn, overturn, overturn it; and it shall be no more until he come whose right it is; and I will give it him.' Ezekiel 21:25-27. Gabriel said to the virgin Mary, 'Call his name Jesus. The Lord God shall give unto him the throne of his father David; and he shall reign over the house of Jacob forever; and of his kingdom there shall be no end.' Luke 1:31-33.

"Accordingly then, the throne belonged to Christ. But when he came to earth the Jews rejected him and said, 'We have no king but Caesar.' In rejecting Christ their king they brought the theocracy to an end. The throne of God was then removed from earth. As Ezekiel said, 'It shall be no more until he come whose right it is and I will give it to him.' This prediction of Christ sitting on the throne of David, and God having given it to him, is still future because Christ was not enthroned while on earth. He had not so much as a pillow on which to place his head. The savior stated all this in these words, 'My kingdom is not of this world; and now is my kingdom not from hence.' John 18:36.

"Remember that Mussolini plans on making Italy supreme. This scheme as you know would make the throne of Italy universal. But will an earthly monarch ever rule supreme in this political world again? No never!"

Spear speaks again on Wednesday night on the subject, "Japan's Monroe Doctrine Fulfills Prophecy." Thursday he will talk on "The Great Famine to Sweep the World—Will it be for Bread?" Friday, "The Question God Can't Answer;" Saturday, "Angels—are They Fairies, Fancies, or Our Departed Dead?"

MISS GEORGIA ENGELHARD has scaled 90 major peaks, 38 in one season. Slender, but a marvel of endurance and energy, she says: "When people tell me of being tired out, or lacking pep, I don't know of better advice to give than you'll find in the suggestion 'Get a lift with a Camel.'"

ANY TOBACCO MAN WILL TELL YOU: "Camels are made from finer, more expensive tobaccos—Turkish and Domestic—than any other popular brand."

YOU'LL ENJOY this thrilling response in your flow of energy!

In light of the recent scientific confirmation of the "energizing effect" in Camels, note what Miss Engelhard, champion woman mountain climber, says:

"Mountain climbing is great sport, but don't try it unless you have plenty of energy. Many times up there above the timber line, within a short climb of the goal, I have thought 'I can't go another step.' Then I call a halt and smoke a Camel. A Camel lifts me up in just a few minutes and gives me the energy to push on to the mountain top!"

People in every walk of life have found that Camels increase their energy. Perhaps you have observed this among your own circle of friends.

You'll like Camel's matchless blend of costlier tobaccos. Mild—but never flat or "sweetish"—never tiresome in taste. You'll feel like smoking more, so go ahead! For with Camels, you will find that steady smoking does not jangle the nerves.

MOTOR-BOAT RACER.

Florence Burnham says: "For a long time I have been a Camel fan. . . . Camels, being so much milder, never disturb my nerves. I smoke them all I want."

BABE RUTH, THROUGH WITH YANKS, PONDER'S FUTURE

Babe Ruth, who has performed well took turns in the outfield, before 50,000,000 people — more than any other sports figure in history — frankly admits that he doesn't know what is to become of him in 1935.

He would prefer to manage a club. His second choice is to play week-ends and pinch hit. He realizes that he is finished as a regular.

"The Yankees may feel that I can do them some good as a substitute, and then again Colonel Ruppert may decide he has had all he wants of me, and give me the bum's rush," says Ruth. "If that happens, I don't know where I'll go."

Ruth would not consider buying into a club.

"I'm too smart for that," he explains. "It's finer to share the profits of a winner, but owners have more grief than players imagine. It's tough pickings for men who finance losers."

It would be strange if the American league, weaker than it ever has been in four cities, couldn't find a place for the most magnetic attraction in the annals of the game.

But withhold your tears. Ruth has earned a million in his 21 years of play. He declares he can write his own ticket for $500,000. And Colonel Ruppert hasn't as yet turned him out into the cool, cruel world.

DIZZY OKEYS FRISCH

Although relations between "Dizzy" Dean and Frankie Frisch haven't been exactly clubby this season, the singular slinger calls the once Fordham Flash a great manager.

"Sure, Frisch is great," asserts Dizzy. "He's kept the Cardinals in the race right up to the wire with only two pitchers—Paul and me."

Dean operates on the theory that a hitter can't out-think a high one or a crackling curve.

"Most pitchers get so smart that they outsmart themselves," beams the Arkansas. "I just rear back and blow the ball through their with plenty on it. That puts the problem up to those guys, not me."

Dean didn't get his biggest thrill out of any one of the 26 victories he has turned in for the St. Louis club, or out of baseball prior to this season. That came when he met Mae West and Will Rogers at the Fort Worth airport.

WASHINGTON CLUB'S WAR

Washington couldn't have fared much worse this year had it been playing Dillinger.

It was fitting that Al Schacht, a comedian, should be in charge of the Senators in the first two trips of their final western trip. Perhaps Clark Griffith was trying to laugh off the club.

In his maiden effort as a manager, Schacht had Skibo, a rookie, coach, was made eligible so that he could take turns at second and third; Bluege, a third baseman, looked after shortstop; Harris, an outfielder, and Luke Sewell, a catcher, filled in at third, and Se-

S. A. GRID COACHES SEEK SPEED

BRONCO-INDIAN GAME FEATURE OF GRID WEEK

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 24.—(UP)—The going gets tougher in the Pacific Coast football race this week-end as all ten teams in the division roll into action.

Five of them—California, University of Washington, Washington State, Montana and Idaho—perform in public for the first time this season. The others swing in to their second round of activity.

Heading the schedule is the Stanford-Santa Clara match. Both teams will be playing their second game of the year. Stanford walloped San Jose State in its opener, 48-0, while Santa Clara subdued a supposedly strong Nevada eleven, 40-0.

It will be the first major test for both of them. Stanford showed flashes of power against San Jose. It uncovered "Monk" Moscrip, end, as a kicker who might make Cardinal fans forget their moaning over the loss of All-America Bill Corbush.

Broncos Dangerous
Santa Clara, victors two years running over California in early competition, is out to maintain a reputation as an early season "giant killer" and make a real showing in coast competition, even though it is not a member of the conference.

Second in interest, and first from a conference championship standpoint, is the Oregon-U. C. L. A. battle at Portland. U. C. L. A. boasts a pair of victories in its inauspicious battles—14-0 over Pomona and 20-0 over San Diego State, scored in Saturday's double-header. Oregon halted Gonzaga, 13-0.

California, one of the potential giants of the circuit, plays a doubleheader opener against California Aggies and Nevada while Howard Jones' Trojans play their third contest of the season against another easy eleven, College of Pacific. The Trojans captured a twin-bill Saturday, the reserves halting Occidental 20-0 and the first string beating Whittier 40-14.

Whittier punched over its two touchdowns while reserves were playing and was the only team to score against a conference member Saturday.

Open Conference Season
Both Washington elevens start the season against conference members, although their opponents represent the only two obvious weak spots on the circuit. Washington State plays Montana at Pullman and University of Washington entertains Idaho at Seattle.

Oregon State, winner of a doubleheader against Willamette, 13-0, and Pacific university, 19-0, meets "Spud" Lewis' University of San Francisco eleven at Corvallis Friday.

St. Mary's, ranked with S. F. U. and Santa Clara as elevens which might cause some headaches in conference circles, breaks out its 1934 edition of the "Moraga Raiders" at Kezar stadium Sunday against Columbia of Portland.

GAEL GRID PROGRAM STILL INCOMPLETE

MORAGA, Sept. 24.—Saint Mary's grid schedule was still incomplete this week since the settlement of the Oregon-Saint Mary's game had not been made. Oregon officials meet today to debate whether to play Saint Mary's Thanksgiving Day or December 8 in Kezar stadium, San Francisco.

The schedule which is complete up to the last two games is as follows:

Sunday, Sept. 30—Columbia at San Francisco.

Saturday, Oct. 6—California at Berkeley.

Friday, Oct. 12—Nevada at San Francisco.

Saturday, Oct. 20—Fordham at New York.

Friday, Nov. 2—Washington State at San Francisco.

Monday, Nov. 12—U. C. L. A. at Los Angeles.

Sunday, Nov. 18—Santa Clara at San Francisco.

Thursday, Nov. 29—Oregon at San Francisco (tentative).

SANTA ANITA NOSES OUT BREAD PEDDLERS

Scoring two runs in the first and another in the second, Santa Anita's baseball club won from the Perfection Bread team of Los Angeles, 3-2, at Santa Anita Sunday.

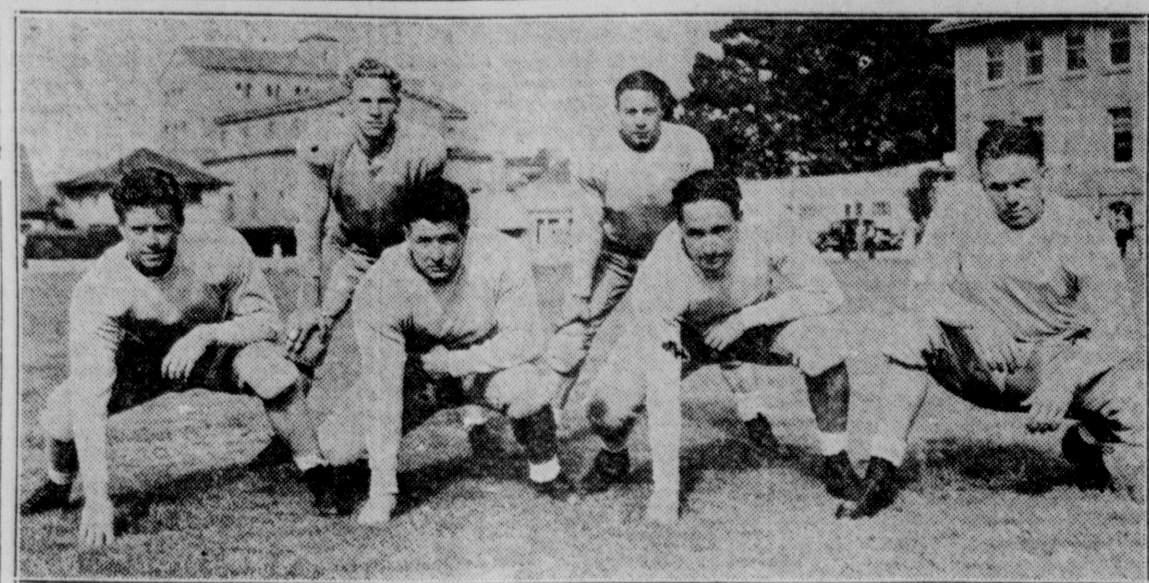

Koral's single down the third base line, with two aboard, drove in Santa Anita's runs in the opening inning, after Perfection Bread had scored once in the first half. Santa Anita got another in the second, and Perfection Bread made one in the eighth. The score:

THE UNIVERSITY OF SANTA ANA AT U. S. C.

The University of Southern California has a good slice of Santa Ana's population on its football roster this fall, no less than six former Saints being adjuncts in Howard Jones' system. Here they are, lined up like a miniature "Thundering Herd" at Bovard field.

Stagg's Pacific Eleven Next For Trojan Gridders

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 24.—Having disposed of Occidental and Whittier in a doubleheader that gave almost every member of the huge Trojan squad a chance to show his wares in competition, the University of Southern California football squad turned to more serious business today as it went to work for the College of the Pacific game next Saturday in the Coliseum.

Although Coach Amos Alonzo Stagg's eleven is not considered a dangerous opponent for the Trojans, it is strong enough to give them a good test. The contest will give Coach Howard Jones his last chance to experiment in a practice game before the Southern Californians swing into their heavy conference and interconference schedule.

Following the College of Pacific game, the Trojans meet Washington State, Pittsburgh at Palo Alto, Oregon State, Stanford at Palo Alto, California, Oregon, Washington and Notre Dame in a series of contests that will send them against the best in the East, Middle West and Pacific Coast.

The meeting between Southern California and College of Pacific will mark the renewal of a football rivalry that started 15 years ago between Stagg and Jones. The veteran mentors coached rival teams twice, on both occasions Stagg's Chicago teams taking hard-fought victories from Jones' Iowa elevens.

RUTH IN FAREWELL CONTEST AS YANKEE

NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—(UP)—Babe Ruth will take his last New York appearance as a major league regular today—the same day on which his beloved Yankees face the loss of their last lingering mathematical chance of beating out Detroit for the American league pennant.

A Detroit victory today over the St. Louis Browns or a Yankee defeat by the Boston Red Sox will clinch the pennant for Detroit, regardless of the outcome of the Tigers' remaining four games and New York's remaining five. Detroit is six games ahead.

Ruth announced definitely that he would make his farewell Yankee stadium appearance as a regular in today's game. Next season he may be with the club as a utility man, he said, or he may be a major league manager.

New York's Giants retained their 2-1-2 game lead over the second-place St. Louis Cardinals, with only four more Giants' games slated and seven for the Cards. Each split a double-header yesterday.

BELLFLOWER LEFTY BLANKS FULLERTON

FULLERTON, Sept. 24.—Behind the three-hit pitching of Bob Smith, lanky southpaw, Bellflower thrashed Francis Lemon's Fullerton ball team, 10-0, here Sunday.

Bellflower hammered Larry Hemm and Errol Stoner for nine assorted blows. Robert Maller, Bellflower outfielder, sent Hemm to the showers in the fourth with a circuit to score two ahead of him.

Smith should have had a no-hit pitching performance to his credit. Joe Mene's double in the second inning could have been fielded had not Diamond and Holbrook run together attempting to field the Texas leaguer. Fullerton's other hits were by Pinch-hitters Hibbs and Terry Griffiths, and both were scratchy.

S. A. Angler Lands Nine Bluefin Tuna

Dr. H. Raymond Smith of Santa Ana returned from a fishing trip today with nine bluefin tuna, averaging between 25 and 35 pounds a fish, and a large yellowtail. Accompanied by Allen Smith and George Platt, he fished off the Coronado Islands, near San Diego.

SOPWITH SQUAWK MEANS WAR

British May Even Have to Use Own Tobacco

U. S. WILL MOP WITH TWEED

NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 24.—out. The Coldstream guards would be mustered. Herbert Hoover would be asked to take charge of the hardback and navy beans. Musketry would rattle. Colored pins would be stuck in suits that didn't fit. Cartoons labeled "Mars" and editorials demanding the arrests of people calling suspenders "braces" would clutter the papers. Then would come war.

The alarm of the pacifists was partly counterbalanced by the satisfaction Sopwith's unfurling of the protest flag brought to certain gentlemen of Newport. They were jubilant, if a bit amazed, that for once someone had beaten Mike Vanderbilt, skipper of Rainbow, to getting out the red signal. I don't know how true it is, but you hear in this town that Vanderbilt is the shrewdest of sea lawyers and that he is quick on the draw with the red flag as "Wild Bill" Hickok was with a two-shooter.

In fact, I heard one man say that Vanderbilt keeps the protest flag in steps on the port shrouds, where it can be broken out on a second's notice, and that he drills his crew in the handling of it just as he drills them with the sails. And that he sails with a copy of the rules between his teeth. This last is undoubtedly an exaggeration, for the rule book is a very heavy one, and has a highly unpalatable binding unless taken with a dash of ketchup. I'm sure a Vanderbilt wouldn't care for it.

Some editorial columnists would demand more airplanes and go-rillas. Irving Berlin would set a nation's heart beating with "I Didn't Raise My Boy to be a Yachtsman." America would feed Yorkshire pudding only to dogs and use tweed only for mopping and cleaning the car, while Englishmen would smoke their own cigars, even if it gassed 'em, and attend American films in blindfold.

The marines would be called.

TENNIS

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 24.—(UP)—Lester Stofen, international doubles champion, carried America's hopes into the finals of the Pacific Southwest men's singles championship today in a meeting with Fred Perry, England's world top-seeded star and defending title-holder.

Perry reached the finals by defeating Johnny Van Ryn, of Philadelphia, in straight sets, 7-5, 7-5, 6-1.

Three other championships were at stake in today's play. Katherine Stammers, English girl, was to decide the women's singles in a match with Mrs. Ethel Burkhardt Arnold of Los Angeles.

Elizabeth Ryan and Carolyn Babcock were paired against Freda James and Betty Nuthall, all-English team, in the women's doubles. Wilmer Allison and Vernon Kirby of South Africa when they routed Miss Stammers and Frank Wilde, of England, 2-6, 6-4, 6-2.

Maroons Win Pro Loop Opener, 21-0

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 24.—(UP)—Three touchdowns by Don Moses featured a 21-0 victory of the Southern California Maroons over the Del Rey Shamrocks in the opening game of the Pacific Professional Football league here yesterday. The contest attracted 7,500.

Bellflower hammered Larry Hemm and Errol Stoner for nine assorted blows. Robert Maller, Bellflower outfielder, sent Hemm to the showers in the fourth with a circuit to score two ahead of him.

Oilers Open Title Series At Riverside

Beginning a four-out-of-seven game series for the Southern California Night Ball association championship, Huntington Beach and Riverside meet at Riverside tomorrow night.

The teams move to Huntington Beach Friday for their second contest, but whether two or three games will be played next week has not been decided. The Oilers are holding out for three but Riverside prefers only two.

Huntington Beach goes into the playoffs a topheavy favorite. The Oilers won both halves of the National league's split season. Riverside beat Pomona in the American division series.

SPARTANS DROP 14-0 DECISION AT SAN DIEGO

Fumbling at critical moments, Santa Ana's Spartans' football team, sponsored by the Elks, dropped its seasonal opener to the San Diego Legion. Padre Serra post, by a score of 14 to 0 at Sports field in San Diego yesterday.

Coach Jack Casey did not expect the Spartans to play spectacularly at San Diego, in view of their brief training period, but believes his men will turn in a superior performance against the Los Angeles Western Eagles, who invade the Municipal Bowl next Sunday afternoon for a second crack at the Santa Anans. The Eagles beat the Spartans last year.

San Diego took advantage of a fumble in the opening minutes of play to score a safety and two points. Later in the same period the Legion recovered another fumble near Santa Ana's 20-yard line, and on a few plays bucked the ball over for a touchdown. The Legion scored again in the third quarter, after a 30-yard pass to Santa Ana's 15 and a series of six line plays. San Diego failed to convert either touchdown.

"Porky" Bell, ex-jaycee star, and Miller Dungan, stood out in the Spartan backfield. Hubert ("Brick") Armstrong and Clarence Bolton, ends, and Dale Gilman, aggressive tackle, looked good on the line. Harold Hyton, ex-Oregon State tackle, did not make the trip.

The lineup:

Substitutions
 Santa Ana Spartans—Pratt, Norton, Drysdale, E. Bolton, Reichstein, Savage, Parks, Lamos, Cornelison.
 San Diego Legion—Wren, Donnelly, Willes, Madson, Jordan, Madson, Graham, McClaren, Wells, Ritchey, Cook, Wooden.

The performances of Backs Major and Wilburn Anderson in the Compton game Friday greatly pleased Coach. The Don coach knew what Wilburn, his 190-pound triple-threat, could do, but he was wondering how Major, a lightweight, would go in jaycee competition.

Major's speed netted him several good gains, and the ex-Saint appears to be due for plenty of action this season.

METCALFE RUNS 200 METERS IN 20.2 SEC.

DAIREN, Sept. 24.—(UP)—Ralph Metcalfe, Marquette university sprinter, won the 200 meters dash from Manchukuan and Japanese athletes in opening the second day's events of an international meet here today.

Metcalfe's time was 20.2 seconds. In the first day events, the touring Americans won first places in everything but the javelin.

In the second day's competition, the Americans won six events and Japan two, the pole vault and the hop-step-and-jump.

SCOUTS HEAR TALKS AT MESA MEETINGS

COSTA MESA, Sept. 24.—Every time a boy does something that he knows is right, he strengthens his character, and every time that he makes a wrong decision, he weakens his character to a certain degree, Alvin Kidder told boys of Boy Scout troop No. 6 when he spoke to them Friday night in the troop cabin on the topic, "Trustworthiness." One cannot lie or steal and be trustworthy, but must shun such wrongs and learn to make responsibilities at an early age, he said.

The talk was the first of a series of addresses that will be given at the Scout meetings. George Teaney, former scoutmaster, spoke on "Scouting" to troop officers of troop No. 6 at a meeting held in the Lions clubhouse. Teaney said that in his opinion there will be a great opportunity for young men in the near future if they are well grounded in the things that Scouting has for them and advised each to make the best of the opportunity by being prepared.

Those at the officers' meeting were committee men, Frank Vele and Charley Ogden; Scoutmaster Lloyd Willcutt; Assistant Scoutmaster Leonard Collins; Patrol Leaders Robert Allemen, Willard Vele and Elmer Henry and Sea Scout Bill Greshner.

Plans were laid for a Scout-Parent dinner meeting to be held next Friday evening in the social hall of the Community church.

SAVE TO BUY and BUY TO SAVE

READ this headline forwards or read it backwards—it gives you the same, sound advice.

You have certain fixed living expenses—rent, food, clothing, light, and other necessities. You save money every week so that these bills can be paid at the first of every month. Whatever else you buy must come from surplus savings, over and above those set apart to cover living costs. To make those savings buy the utmost value for the money is the essence of true economy.

Save to buy—then buy to save. Know what you need to buy before going to the store. Know what you can afford to pay before you start out to make a purchase. That is the one sure way to get the most for your money.

Make it a habit to read the advertisements in your newspaper every day. By doing so you will learn where to buy the things you need and where your dollar will buy the greatest value. The advertisements will show you where to purchase better food, better clothes, and yet save you money. They will help you live better and enjoy the good things of life. They will help you to buy in order to save.

ARMS PROBE PROVES JOLT TO DIPLOMATS

BY WILLIS THORNTON
Register Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24.—Life for the foreign diplomatic set has been just a horrible nightmare ever since the Senate Munitions Committee laid the ethics of the armament business out on the operating table and started wounding the scalpel.

Foreign attaches usually put in a tough day's work featured by sipping a little weak tea or an occasional cocktail in the lounge of the Mayflower or Shoreham.

Now they are suddenly deluged with mail, telephone, and personal calls from countrymen all located up at the assertions before the committee that homeland officials suffer from chronic catatonicism, or itching palm.

At the British embassy, where the name of his majesty is never even mentioned except possibly in a breathless and reverent toast over a bottle of old huntin' port, I'm told attaches practically swooned in rows at the rude suggestion that the king wasn't above helping the British munitions firms to turn an honest dollar.

Sir Ronald Lindsay, British ambassador, led a long file of lesser diplomats with a protest that was described as "more hurt than angry."

Some of the diplomatic folks actually had to cut short their three-month holiday at the shore to handle the squawks of indignant fellow citizens.

Some of the few who sport a sense of humor and lack in their glibness the cunctiousness and wait-and-see next revelations with a grim smile that meant "Huh! You're telling us!"

But most winced and were really shocked, for these one-syllable words aren't used in diplomatic language.

Hull's "in the Middle" Meanwhile, poor Secretary of State all, who has labored mightily for greater goodwill be-

OPEN CAMPAIGN TO RAISE FUNDS FOR L. A. PHILHARMONIC

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 24.—Symphonic Week in Southern California started today. Proclamations issued in numerous cities of the Southland call upon the people to support the plan of Southern California Symphonic association to raise $125,000 needed to continue the Philharmonic Orchestra.

Declaring the orchestra belongs to the people of Southern California, Harvey S. Rudd, president of the association, urged a generous response to the call for aid.

Although the desire to have 100,000 persons give $1 each has gained much favor, those who are able to give more should not hesitate to do so, he said.

Campaign headquarters where continuance funds are being received have been established at 424 Philharmonic Auditorium building in Los Angeles with Mrs. Leland Atherton Irish as general campaign chairman.

"Help save our orchestra, give a dollar—more if you can," is the slogan of the citizens committee.

KENNY TO PRESENT CONVENTION REPORT

Herbert F. Kenny, Democratic nominee for assemblyman, 74th district, will speak tomorrow evening at 7:45 o'clock at the Democratic headquarters in the Temple theater building, Third and Bush streets.

Kenny was a delegate from Orange county to the state Democratic convention which was held last week at Sacramento and will give the highlights of this convention. He will explain of the harmony and good feelings among the Democrats throughout the state. The public is invited to attend this meeting.

Between the Americas had to take the rap for a situation for which he was in no way responsible.

It's expected that as a result of his agitated conferences with the Nye committee, there will be less naming of names in future. But the investigation will go on. People close to the arms situation here feel that America can't just kiss goodbye to most of its foreign arms business now. For who wants to deal with a company whose confidential correspondence is likely to be shouted to the cockeyed world at any time?

Nobody, especially if there has been a judicious spreading of palm-oil in the deals.

Right Down Peace Alley Don't think the peace organizations aren't making the most of the arms revelations, either. The Women's International League for Peace and Freedom is just starting a "Congressional Caravan" out to tour the country and impress its cause on congressional candidates. And the speakers are ordered to put all steam on the revelations of the munitions racket.

WOMEN'S CLUBS TO STUDY OLD AGE PENSIONS, UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE, SOCIAL PROBLEMS

WASHINGTON, D. C., September 24.—Unemployment insurance, old age pensions, birth control, world peace and other social problems now so much under public discussion and expected to command the attention of the next session of Congress, are included in the study agenda for this season of a majority of the more than 14,000 clubs that compose the General Federation of Women's Clubs, according to Mrs. Grace Morrison Poole, president.

"Unemployment in a highly geared machine age hangs like the sword of Damocles over many, many homes," says Mrs. Poole. "Recently I talked with a manufacturer who said, 'Surely I am in favor of unemployment insurance if the public wants to pay for it.' What did he mean by that? He meant just this, that he would be in favor of unemployment insurance to which the government, the employer and the employee contributed. Now there are certain people who believe the employee should be left out of the picture entirely; there are others who believe the employer should contribute it all. The angles on the problem are many and complex, but, unless I am very much mistaken, unemployment insurance of some sort or other will be a matter for congressional action during this coming congress.

Pensions "There is an awakened consciousness in the minds of our citizens that old age pensions must enter into tomorrow's program. Twenty-eight states already have old age pension laws, and it is quite possible that the federal government will consider the question in the coming congress. Will the assurance that everyone will have enough for existence penalize thrift in this country. Many think it will, but on the other hand there is no question but that there is an increasingly large number of pathetic figures in this country without means of support. When families were large and houses were large, there always seemed to be a corner for the old person to stay in until the last call came, but today we live in apartments; the economic pressure is so severe that few people are able to prepare adequately for that sunset trail.

"I wonder if anyone is really satisfied with the result of prohibition repeal? Even the most ardent repealists must admit that drunkenness has increased tremendously in this country. Is it simply the natural first result of repeal? The time is rapidly coming when that cannot be the answer, and I call upon the women of the General Federation to demand an active campaign of education for decency and restraint in the matter of drink.

World Peace "Someone has said that never in the history of modern civilization have the nations of the world been so nationalistic and yet so internationally dependent one upon the other. That is a true statement of fact. Thinking people in our country realize our interdependence, but they see it menaced by the age-old theory that nations, like men, should think of themselves first, last and always. We have tried to talk and work for peace on a high mental and ethical platform. It has not worked particularly well and there is a growing feeling that possibly we will have to look at the more materialistic side of the picture. Our country alone cannot bring peace to the world, but it is taking some rather practical steps in that direction. We have declared an embargo on arms against those two South American countries who seem determined to commit suicide. We passed the so-called Nye-Vandenberg Resolution asking for a sweeping investigation into the peace-time activities of the munition manufacturers of this country. We urge support and cooperation in this investigation. "And isn't it about time to resurrect that piece of legislation sponsored by the American Legion, that if war comes to our nation, nobody, anywhere, at any time, shall make money out of that war, and everyone, no matter what his station in life, shall be subject to draft by the United States government? "We are watching with great sympathy the growing consciousness of our great religious organizations that they can be a real power in cleaning up the motion picture industry. What they are preaching and asking for is in effect the same program that we have preached and asked for down through the years. I would be the last one to deny the present trend in this country, but I want to say this: It must be more than a flash in the pan. It has got to be a 365 day-a-year job. And in the last analysis it means raising our ethical standards and consciousness of our people—one reason why ethical training should be in the public schools. Form your motion picture councils in every community, work cooperatively, using the machinery at hand, but remember in the final analysis, what the people want the people will have."

SEVENTH CASE OF PARALYSIS; VICTIM DIES

Infantile paralysis claimed its second victim this year in Orange county when James A. Tawney, 21, of Laguna Beach, Santa Ana Junior college graduate, died early yesterday after an illness of only three days.

Tawney's death and the discovery of another new case at Irvine, the seventh now under quarantine in the county as a result of the epidemic's recent recurrence, were week-end developments in the infantile paralysis situation, according to Dr. K. H. Sutherland, county health officer.

The Laguna Beach youth, who had returned home six days prior to his illness, after a trip around the world as a cabin steward on a Dollar Line steamer, was preparing to leave for Washington, D. C., to complete his college education when stricken.

He became ill Thursday, complaining of a swelling in his throat. On Saturday he became worse and was removed to the county hospital for treatment, but succumbed Sunday morning.

The first fatality in the county was that of an Anaheim high school student, early in the summer, when the epidemic was first developing. More than a score of other cases developed during that period, but the epidemic gradually dwindled away and for a period of several weeks no new cases appeared.

About two weeks ago, however, the disease reappeared, and six were under quarantine when Tawney's case developed. Today a seventh case was added to the six isolated at the county hospital, the new patient being Ricardo Elizarraras, 7, of Irvine.

Funeral services for Tawney were held yesterday at Central Memorial Park, Midway City; the Laguna Beach Funeral Home had charge of arrangements.

Tawney was a native of Seattle. He attended Tustin Union high school, and graduated last June from Santa Ana Junior college. He may have contracted infantile paralysis before returning home from his world cruise, Dr. Sutherland said today.

REINHARDT TO GIVE PAGEANT AGAIN TONIGHT

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 24.—To accommodate the thousands of persons who have been unable to obtain seats to the performances of Max Reinhardt's "A Midsummer Night's Dream," a special popular-priced show will be held at 8 o'clock tonight in Hollywood Bowl.

This was the announcement today of officials of the California Festival association, sponsors of the presentation, following conferences with Reinhardt and members of the cast.

All tickets will be 50c and $1.00. Children will be admitted for 25c. No seats will be reserved and early-comers will, of course, secure the most advantageous accommodations.

Although Reinhardt had planned to leave for San Francisco yesterday, where his show will open next week, it was at his suggestion that the extra performance has been scheduled. Production officials and cast members heartily endorsed the idea.

More than 150,000 persons have seen the seven shows; thousands more, Reinhardt pointed out, have voiced their desire to attend, but were reluctant because of the price scale. At the special prices it is expected another capacity audience will witness tonight's performance. Late weather forecasts indicate that clear skies and moderate temperature will greet the special show.

GARDEN GROVE YOUTHS WIN FAIR AWARD

POMONA, Sept. 24.—Young members of the Future Farmers club of Garden Grove were returned winners in the poultry judging contests held this week-end at the Los Angeles County Fair at Pomona as the Future Farmers of America in the southern counties finished their activities in the fair. Judging contests and the presentation of awards in the various competitions of the two-day educational meeting known as Camp Condee ended the young farmers' participation in the fair.

Judging in all departments of the fair has been completed, and visitors to the fair from now on will have the advantage of knowing where each entry placed in the judging as the ribbons are now attached.

The horse show, which held the center of attraction for the first week of the fair, has now been replaced by the spectacular program of miniature auto races, Roman chariot races, one of the greatest displays of fireworks ever assembled in the Southland, radio programs offering nationally known stars in broadcast before the grandstand, and many other attractions, including a big revue in a colorful series of dance and tableaux numbers.

BALLET SERIES TO BE GIVEN IN L. A.

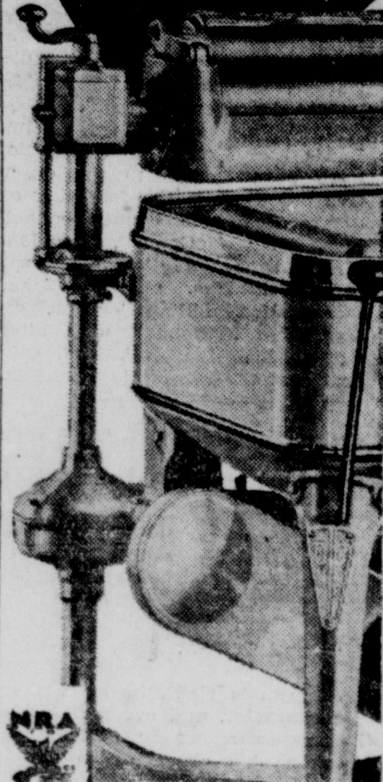

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 24.—Los Angeles will soon become one of the world's foremost producing centers of ballets, according to plans of the California Ballet company, featuring 100 modern dancers under the direction of Lester Horton, which has just leased the Shrine Auditorium to present an autumn and winter series of outstanding new dance creations from Europe, New York and the Orient. Performances will be given on October 26, November 30, December 25, January 25, February 22 and March 29, the last Friday night of each month.

Negotiations are under way for "Semiramis," lavish Oriental spectacle with music by Arthur Honegger, produced by Ida Rubinstein at the Paris Opera; "Anthony Comstock," a travesty on reformers by Martha Alter, shown at the Eastman theater, Rochester; "La Rumba," by George Antheil, winner of the Guggenheim award; "Persephone," ballet of Greek mythology to music by Igor Stravinsky, recently premiered in Paris; "The Hunchback Horse," comic ballet by Puni, a feature at the Berlin Staatsoper and the Moscow Op.

Curtain Of Mystery Lifting On Lindbergh Kidnaping

Announcement of "hot leads" developed and arrests made in New York City in the Lindbergh baby kidnaping case bring again into the spotlight the chain of mysterious, harrowing events in the nation's most famous abduction. Pictured here, 1, is Charles Augustus Lindbergh, Jr., 20-month-old victim; 2, the ladder down which the kidnapers fled on March 1, 1932, when they stole the child from his parents' home in Hopewell, N. J.; 3, the empty crib, symbol of a nation's sorrow; 4, the ransom note, which was pinned to a window sill in the nursery, demanding $50,000, specifying denominations of the bills, and enjoining silence; 5, John Hughes Curtis, Norfolk, Va., shipbuilder, who claimed he had been named an intermediary and made several mysterious trips to sea to "contact" the kidnapers. He was exposed as perpetrator of a cruel hoax and fined $1000. The Rev. H. Dobson Peacock, 6, Norfolk pastor, one of the prominent persons misled into sponsoring Curtis.

Through a trust at Woodlawn cemetery, New York City, 7, arrangements were made to pay $50,000 to an alleged member of the kidnap gang by Dr. John F. Condon, elderly educator, 8, the intermediary better known as "Jafise," from his signature on ads in which he attempted to get in touch with the criminals. One of the ads is shown with "Jafise's" picture. The money was paid at St. Raymond cemetery. The man who received it, possibly now under arrest, was believed to have been an outsider, "muscling in" on the ransom money. The baby had been dead for several days, it finally was discovered, when the payment was made. On May 12, more than two months after the abduction, the baby's body was found in a thicket near Hopewell. William Allen and Orville Williams, truck drivers, are shown, 9, pointing to the spot where they accidentally made the tragic discovery. From that time, federal agents, instructed to spend years, if necessary, in solving the crime, maintained their search.

FAIRY TALE TO BE PRESENTED BY CHILDREN

Launching a series of events to be staged by the Peter Pan Players, of the Santa Ana Children's Community Theater, the first play of the current season will be presented at the Ebell club auditorium Friday night at 8 o'clock, it was announced today.

A second performance of the same presentation, which is to be "Cinderella," the popular childhood fairy tale, will be given at the same place Saturday afternoon at 2 p. m.

The elaborate and colorful presentation will include a group of talented dancers and singers in addition to the play to be presented by the juvenile actors. A picked cast of 100 children will be featured in the presentation. The most outstanding talent in the city has been chosen for the inaugural performance, it was announced.

Estelle Card Beeman is director of the play, while costumes and stage sets were designed by Hazel Bums, art instructor of the Santa Ana high school and junior college. Members of the stage crew and ushers will be chosen from among the more than 300 members of the Peter Pan Players. Music for the presentation is in charge of Carolyn Haughton. Holly Lash Visel is business manager.

Efforts of leaders of the children's theater movement here are being directed toward developing the talents of local children in acting, singing and dancing.

Finds Police Officers Obliging

Santa Ana police officers try to be courteous and accommodating to everybody. In this way, as official representatives of the city, they seek to build "good-will" for the community on the part of visitors and out-of-town shoppers.

"Courtesy pays," they have been told, and many visiting motorists have received "courtesy tags" for parking overtime instead of the more harsh "ticket" given local offenders.

A visitor at the police station Saturday afternoon was Emory T. Tibbitts, 25, a truck driver of 1622 1/2 West Fifth street.

The police note on the call is as follows: "This man came into the station, told a sad story about getting drunk, and wanted to go to the county jail to sober up."

As always, the officers accommodated him.

OFFICIALS GO TO STATE MEET OF CITY LEAGUE

A. C. Hasenjaeger, executive vice president of the Commercial National bank and president of the Orange County League of Municipalities, left for Pasadena this morning to take part in the annual convention of the California League of Municipalities which was launched today with headquarters at the Maryland hotel.

Hasenjaeger was scheduled to appear on the opening day program this afternoon as one of the featured speakers. He was to discuss the activities of the Orange county league, considered the outstanding county unit in the state for its progressive activity, harmonious action between cities and 100 per cent membership of all cities in the county.

Members of the Santa Ana city council, and representatives from other cities in Orange county were planning to attend sessions of the annual convention, which will end Friday night. Among those who plan to attend are Mayor L. A. Hogue, Brea, vice president of the Orange county unit, Albert Launer, Fullerton city attorney, who is secretary of the Orange county group, and Charles Mann, Anaheim, who represents Orange county on the state board of directors.

Important business to be considered at the convention includes discussion of means of securing a larger share of gasoline tax funds for municipalities.

CURB AND GUTTER WORK TO COST $29,637 TO BE STARTED HERE SOON AS SERA PROJECT

To be completed at a total cost of $29,637.53, a SERA project for the city of Santa Ana, calling for the building of curb returns, gutter work, culverts and other similar work, has been approved by San Francisco officials and will be put into operation in about 10 days, or as soon as men are available.

Materials to be paid for by the city total $37,475.3, but since there was a credit of $25,315.50 from unfinished CWA projects which is being used, the cost to the city will be only $12,159.83. The labor cost to the SERA will be $20,940, bringing the total cost, including equipment rental and supervision, to $29,637.53.

One of the biggest portions of the project calls for the building of 200 curb returns throughout the city, at a cost for materials of $2685. This work was started under the CWA setup but was not completed. The work consists of rounding off sharp corner curbings so that vehicle traffic may be speeded up at intersections. It also eliminates many high curbings which are difficult for pedestrians to use.

A culvert will be built at Orange avenue and St. Gertrude's place in front of the Edison school so that students will not be forced to wade in water during the stormy months. This work will cost $453.05.

A retaining wall along the ramp in the Santa Ana Bowl will cost $328 while a new gutter along English street at the Seventeenth street crossing will eliminate the flooding of the streets by storm waters.

When the project was first turned in to SERA officials, it included the repairing of sidewalks and broken curbs but these items were eliminated in San Francisco on the basis that the SERA funds should be used for new work and not maintenance.

Much of the work on the project will not start for about 10 days, since most of the SERA laborers are engaged in demolishing school buildings. When enough men are available to have a continuous crew at work, City Engineer J. L. McBride will order work to be started.

At the present time, SERA work is being projected or is underway on several Santa Ana projects. The library is being painted while men are at work in Fisher park. Although the project calling for the extension of the fire alarm system has been approved, there are no linemen or others on the SERA rolls to install the fire boxes.

At city planning project will start tomorrow, with two men making an inventory of physical property owned by the city, and two codifying city ordinances.

Another project to start tomorrow is the building of a sewer under the Southern Pacific railway on Stafford street.

ANNUAL P.-T.A. MEMBER DRIVE OPENS TODAY

Today marks the opening of the annual membership drive of the Parent-Teacher Associations of Orange county, through which it is hoped to increase membership of the 70 units in the county to near the 10,000 mark, according to Mrs. Oliver Wickersham of Orange, district membership chairman, whose committee is busy directing the campaign.

Locally, the membership drive is being supervised by Mrs. W. E. R. Crawford, president of the city council, P.-T. A. which comprises all local associations in Santa Ana. Among those assisting actively in the campaign are membership chairman Mrs. Ruth Riggle and Vice President Mrs. M. W. Hollingsworth.

The wide scope of P.-T. A. work is shown in the annual report of the fourth district, comprising Orange county associations, published recently. It showed 3150 people added by the district, 344.15 medical services given, $28.50 dental work furnished, $188.28 optical work provided, $58.65 worth of milk furnished school pupils, $182.20 worth of lunches furnished, 2711 old garments provided, at an estimated value of $582.51.

ANN MEREDITH'S MIXING BOWL

EAT AND GROW SLIM

- 1 ripe pear, or
- 1-2 grapefruit, no sugar
- 1 egg scrambled with
- 2 crisp slices bacon, diced
- 1 slice dry toast
- 1 cup coffee with
- 1-4 cup hot skim milk, no sugar
- Calory value.....325

"The Last Run of Shad" Holiday Pickles

- 1 quart green tomatoes, thinly sliced
- 2 quarts shredded raw cabbage
- 5 small white onions, sliced
- 1 large ripe sweet pepper, sliced
- 1 quart vinegar
- 1 heaping cup brown sugar
- 1 tsp. whole mustard seed
- 2 tpsps. salt
- 2-3 Tbsp. turmeric powder
- 1-2 Tbsp. ground allspice.

—Contributed Recipe.

Prepare the vegetables as directed, sprinkle with the salt and let stand an hour. Put all spices in the kettle and heat with a little vinegar, then add the balance of vinegar and sugar and boil for 10 minutes, after which add the vegetables, bring to a brisk boil, and simmer for 30 minutes. Seal in clean hot jars.

More ripe pepper may be used for its color value, and if you like your pickles hot, add a little cayenne pepper, but do it carefully.

Do you ever pickle fresh figs? They are at their best right now, and so reasonably priced you should put up a few quarts for special occasions. Put the figs, without removing stems, in a bowl, sprinkle with 2 tpsps. salt and 1 tsp. alum. Cover with boiling water and let stand until cold. Drain, and cook slowly in a sweet pickle (2 cups sugar to 1 cup vinegar, a handful of whole cloves, and some stick cinnamon.) When semi-transparent, seal in clean hot jars.

TODAY'S RECIPE

Frozen Chicken Salad

- 1 cup diced white chicken meat
- 1 small bottle stuffed olives, sliced
- 2 Tpsps. sweet pickle relish
- 1 cup sliced celery heart
- 1-2 cup mayonnaise
- 1 cup whipped cream
- 2 stiffly beaten egg whites
- 1 tbsps. gelatin dissolved in 2 tpsps. water

Salt and pepper to taste.
How about this for your small bridge luncheon, or for Sunday supper? With it, serve hot corn muffins with chopped marachino cherries in the batter.

Soften the gelatin in cold water and dissolve over hot water. Combine whipped cream and whipped egg whites, carefully folding through the mixture the dissolved gelatin (don't whip much, or you'll separate the cream and eggs). Just fold it in with careful hand. Turn this creamy base in to the freezing pan and let it chill while you prepare the chicken and other things.

By the way, are you familiar with the canned chicken in glass? It is such a convenience when small quantities are called for. Fold diced chicken, sliced olives and pickle into the chilled cream, taste, add salt and pepper as desired. Chill for perhaps 4 hours with temperature as for ice cube making. Unmould, serve on lettuce and garnish each salad with a sprig of watercress or parsley. Serve a bowl of mayonnaise for those who wish dressing.

ANN MEREDITH.

DUNLAP-BISHOP WEDDING HAS EFFECTIVE GARDEN SETTING

Just as yesterday's setting sun cast its last long shadows across the garden of the U. Holmes Bishop home on Fairhaven avenue, the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March signalled the passage of a bridal party across the grassy plot, as Miss Velma Bishop, daughter of the home, approached a latticed pergola to exchange wedding vows with John Dunlap, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Dunlap, 2143 North Main street.

A few close friends were bidden, as well as those who were invited with wedding bell centered ices by Miss Effinger and Miss Robbins. When the young people left for their honeymoon trip to San Francisco, the bride wearing a smart suit in a new rust shade with brown dress accessories, tossed her bouquet from the stairway, and Miss Janet Martin was the one into whose waiting hands it fell. When Mr. and Mrs. Dunlap return from the north it will be to the suite awaiting them in the Brakeman apartments, Tenth and Bush streets.

Mr. Dunlap will resume his work as city hall reporter on the Santa Ana Register, where he has been employed since graduation from University of Southern California.

In New Home
In their new home will be many handsome wedding gifts and others which have been presented at pre-nuptial showers. One of these parties was given by the maid of honor, Miss Robbins, and Richard Robbins was equally thoughtful in entertaining for Mr. Dunlap at a gay affair.

Mr. Dunlap chose hand-tooled leather for his attendants, with a billfold to his best man and key cases to the ushers.

Hostesses Use Italian Motif in Details of Party and Shower

Making Miss Jean Peacock their incentive for entertaining, the Misses Jean and Betty Rowland presided at a clear party Friday night, in the form of an Italian supper and bridge in the home of their parents, Dr. and Mrs. Elliott Rowland, 2418 Fairmont avenue.

Zinnias, with their stiffly formal petals in rich autumn shades, seemed an ideal flower to be used in decorations. They were especially lovely in conjunction with the bright-hued pottery which took such a prominent part in the evening's plans. For not only did the guests present Miss Peacock with a set of pottery in various harmonizing hues, but at the supper hour, the Italian menu was served from similar artistic ware.

Tables were spread with checkered linens and quaint little pottery candlesticks were used for the tapers. Mrs. Rowland, who had assisted her daughters in receiving their guests, served the menu.

In the bridge games which preceded the supper hour and shower features, contract was played and first and second high scores made by Miss Peacock and Miss Lucy Holmes, each of whom received a pretty gift.

THE TINYMITES

The fat frog smiled and said, "I've come to show you tots that I can strum. I've had this nifty banjo for a dozen years or more. Now, as I plunk I croak a tune. You will hear me pretty soon." Then Duncy to the hopper said, "What did you come here for?"

"Why," snapped the hopper, with a grin. "I play upon the violin. Or, call this thing a fiddle, if you like that name the best."

"I've learned to slide the bow with care, and real sweet music fills the air. I'll only play a few tunes. Thus I won't become a pest."

"Don't worry," Scouty said. "If you can fiddle fine, you'll never get through, 'cause we will keep on asking you to kindly play some more.

"The same thing goes for Flippy. He will be kept busy as can be. And, now, both try your luck, and show us what you have in store."

Each played a little tune and then the Tinies shouted, "Play again." "Now, wait," cried out the hunter. "I am going to lead my band."

"The 'gator and the monk are here, and they will join in, never fear. I'll hop upon a toadstool with a baton in my hand."

Then to his four fine pets he cried, "Now, form around me, side by side, and when I give the signal, play the best that you know how."

"As through the air your music floats, I do not want to hear sour notes. If you have ever played, real well, please do it for me now."

Things soon were set for his big show, and then he shouted, "Here we go!" He waved his baton as the Tinies gathered all around.

The music started. My, 'twas sweet. Wee Duncy shouted, "What a treat! Come on, you Tinies, join me. I am going to dance around."

BON WILKIE TO FINISH RIPPER TELLS HOW TO STORY TONIGHT PREPARE SO

The third and final installment of the stirring true account of the deceptions and eventual trapping of the notorious "Jack the Ripper" will be related by Captain Don Wilkie, former Secret Service operative and for 21 years a government law enforcement officer, in his regular broadcast from KREG tonight at 7:30 o'clock.

The inside facts of the "Ripper" case, known as the most horrible criminal menace in the history of England and one which for a time baffled the famous Scotland Yard, are full of surprises. Eighteen London women were brutally murdered before the killer was finally uncovered. Even then he was never arrested, Captain Wilkie will reveal. The murderer, a prominent London surgeon who had gone criminally insane, was reported as having died in an asylum. A fake burial was held to satisfy the enraged and nervous population of London. The truth, as Captain Wilkie will reveal from inside records, was that the killer lived within the confines of the institution for criminally mad for years after the public thought him safely out of the way.

Next Friday night, at the same hour, Captain Wilkie will tell another thrilling fact story of crime and crime detection as a part of his popular "In the Crime" series on KREG each Monday and Friday.

"Home On the Range," "Soldier's Sweetheart," "The New River Train," "What Is Home Without Love" and "Sweet Lorraine" will be sung by "Frankie and Johnnie," popular songstresses tonight at 8 o'clock on KREG, continuing their well-received series of programs scheduled each Monday and Thursday.

It was announced that visitors are being admitted to the studio during "Frankie and Johnnie" program only. With the number of visitors increasing with each broadcast, it may be necessary to place some restrictions on admission, it was stated.

BON WILKIE FINISHES RIPPER STORY TONIGHT

The third and final installment of the stirring true account of the deceptions and eventual trapping of the notorious "Jack the Ripper" will be related by Captain Don Wilkie, former Secret Service operative and for 21 years a government law enforcement officer, in his regular broadcast from KREG at 7:30 o'clock.

The inside facts of the "Ripper" case, known as the most horrible criminal menace in the history of England and one which for a time baffled the famous Scotland Yard, are full of surprises. Eighteen London women were brutally murdered before the killer was finally uncovered. Even then he was never arrested. Captain Wilkie will reveal the murderer, a prominent London surgeon who had some criminal insanity, was reported as having died in an asylum. A fake burial was held to satisfy the enraged and nervous population of London. The truth, as Captain Wilkie will reveal from inside records, was that the killer lived within the confines of the institution for criminally mad for years after the public thought him safely out of the way.

Next Friday night, at the same hour, Captain Wilkie will tell another thrilling fact story of crime and crime detection as a part of his popular "In the Crimelight" series on KREG each Monday and Friday.

Bride-elect Follows Rainbows to Find "Pot of Gold"

Rainbows fulfilled their bright promise late the past week when Mrs. W. A. Atkinson and her sister, Miss Gladys Lamore, made them the decorative motif of a party complimenting Miss Wauwau Hawthorne, fiancée of Edward N. Lane.

There were rainbow colors in the invitations issued by the sister hostesses, and the Atkinson home at 921 Lowell street, where the party was staged, was brilliant with the delicate hues. Windows were arched with them, and flowers used in profusion about the home repeated the theme. The effect was especially lovely in the dining room, where guests gathered at the conclusion of the evening's game contest.

Pink and blue daisies, white larkspur and yellow snapdragons were combined with maidenhair fern to bank the buffet, while on the damask spread table a miniature bridal party was center of interest. Tall white tapered shed a soft glow on the pretty scene.

With the award of prizes to Mrs. Charles F. Hawthorne and Miss Mabel Woods for their prowess in bridge, a note was given Miss Hawthorne telling her that the bride on the dining table had a message for her. This was the first clue in following the rainbows to the pot of gold at their end, where gifts in crystal rewarded the bride-elect.

For the refreshment hour, when the rainbow colors were repeated in ices and individual cakes served with coffee, each table was arranged in an individual color to which flowers and china conformed. That where Miss Hawthorne was seated was all white, and its snowy taper was tied with white tulle and orange blossoms.

Mrs. Atkinson and Miss Lamore included on their guest list with the honoree, Miss Hawthorne, and her mother and sister, Mrs. F. Hawthorne and Miss Marjorie Hawthorne, Mr. Lane's mother, Ralph Fuller, Peter McIntosh, H. N. Coon, Edward Grothier, Leonard Coon, H. D. McIlvain, Howard K. McIlvain, Josephine Fletcher, Blanche Vaughn, H. W. Adams, of Puente, Miss Cora Holt and Miss Mabel Woods.

THE LOCAL OPTION AMENDMENT TO THE CONSTITUTION, NUMBER THIRTEEN

This amendment ought to appeal to all classes of people as it would remedy an utterly impossible situation.

It really determines nothing, as far as the liquor traffic itself is concerned—it simply being an enabling act whereby any political subdivision from a precinct to a county can, by a majority vote, decide for itself whether it shall have sale of intoxicating liquor within its borders, and if so how it shall be restricted.

As it is at present, a local community has no voice in the matter and neither church, school authorities, nor parents can in any manner protect those in whom they have interest from the encroachment of the sales of intoxicating liquor. It should be remembered that legally such sale has been many times construed only as a privilege to be granted or refused by the people, as they deem the interest of society is affected.

There is no other traffic, based on a privilege, that a local community cannot forbid if such community believes the sale to be inimical to the public welfare.

Surely the traffic in intoxicating liquor is not of such high and holy character that it is entitled to special privilege, as against the voice of the community, beyond all other enterprises. The power of the liquor-sellers to ply their trade against the wishes of the majority in a community as now provided by law is repugnant to both the spirit and the letter of democracy.

A man should have the right to be sober if he desires so to be. He should not be made drunken against his will. A county, precinct, or city should also have the privilege of being sober as a whole if the majority of citizens residing in such community have such a joint will to do. Certainly no outside power, as at present, should have the privilege of forcing the traffic on an unwilling community.

The effect of the sale of intoxicating liquor is primarily felt on the local community in which the sale is committed. It has its first effect on the individual who uses it, then on his immediate family, then on the neighborhood, on the village or the city. And it radiates out from such center. It loses its effect in proportion as you move further from the point of sale.

If the people of the community nearest to such sale and most affected by it should not have the right to decide whether such a privilege should be permitted who should have such right?

There is no reason in law, morals or justice why the customs and habits in harmony with the ideals of Hollywood or San Francisco should be forced as customs and habits on Pomona or Claremont.

It has been a fundamental rule in practically all the states of the American union that local communities could control, to the point of prohibition, all evils connected with commerce under the general principles of police power. The courts have permitted the local communities to be stricter with such evils but never more liberal with them than the state law permitted. This proposed amendment would apply this principle to the state of California. Its denial would be tantamount to forcing upon a community by outside agencies that which the people believe would injure them financially and degrade them morally.

The justice and impressive need of this amendment are self-evident.

GENERAL JOHNSON SAYS PLENTY WHEN HE SPEAKS

General Hugh Johnson has been quiet now for more than a week. That is, he has been quiet as far as the news services are concerned. But what he said a week ago was enough. He does not need to talk very often like that.

It is similar to the question concerning the lightning. When the boy was asked why a mule never kicked nor lightning struck in the same place twice he said, "There wasn't any need for it."

So it is with General Johnson. There have been reverberations every day since. The only really quiet man, as a result of the episode is the president. What did he think of it? What is he going to do concerning it? Is General Johnson in or out? Or is he just coming out? With election just a little over a month from now this might be a very discouraging major problem. And if Johnson is out what will the president do with his secretary or are both of them considered together? We wonder if he made these remarks because his secretary told him to, or was it his own idea. Sometime we may learn all about it but certainly "mum" seems to be the word now.

DEDICATE MONUMENT TO MEMORY OF MCGUFFEY

Henry Ford, yesterday, dedicated a granite monument to William Holmes McGuffey, the father of "American educators." McGuffey was born one hundred and thirty-four years ago yesterday and to the generation that was in its teens forty and forty-five years ago the name McGuffey was as well known as their own.

Mr. McGuffey prepared and published a series of readings for each grade in the school and prepared and selected material appropriate for each of these developing years. It is agreed that he was peculiarly apt for such a task. The content of the books manifested nothing short of positive genius. In the advanced readers he placed some of the finest gems of literature and a great deal of what many of the students in later life were able to use and to enjoy, they learned from these selections.

It was with almost a feeling of awe that some years ago we examined the desk that was used by Mr. McGuffey in the preparation of his series of readers. It was a circular desk something like a circular dining table. It was divided into eight sectors, indicating the number of readers which he had, the first to the eighth, with a shelf under each sector in which he placed the manuscript which he was preparing for the reader in the beginning or to revise editions published later. He could sit in the same place and turn the huge circular desk or table.

Henry Ford has collected copies of these various readers and has established this McGuffey museum. In doing this he has, as the old expression goes, "warmed the cockles" of many a heart.

THE STAGE MOVES TO THE CABARET

A dramatic critic calls attention to the stage of twenty years ago as compared with the stage of today. He recalls the numerous shows in all our cities attracting thousands to their performance, and then notes the many dark theaters in all our cities which exist today.

But he calls attention to the existence of the cabaret, something recent in our social life, which has taken over so many of the functions once associated with the stage. The groups attending these cabarets are smaller, but the people who frequent them have more money to spend and are able to pay for first class entertainment.

There are all sorts of cabarets. In general, however, most of them are of the vulgar type in which the burlesque shows of former days are carried to the most unseemly degree. It is inconceivable that such great actors of the stage as Edwin Booth, Edwin Forrest, John McCullough, Henry Irving, Sara Bernhardt, Madame Modjeska, Ellen Terry, and scores of others could ever have been developed in cabarets.

One cannot but feel that something has been lost to the world by this change from the theater to the cabaret. We still have the "talkies" left to us, and many of them are instructive, inspiring, and entertaining. But something of importance has disappeared from the sphere of amusements with the decline of the stage.

FAT HER STOCK IN TRADE YET SHE REDUCES

The fat lady of Barnum and Bailey-Ringling Brothers circus has been having an awful time. She has just passed through a seige of typhoid fever. But in a way the fever wasn't the worst of it. She lost two hundred pounds and she is paid by the poundage. That is pulling her freight in reverse English.

She isn't worth as much as she was. The explanation of how she did it isn't even a good thing as a testimonial. Is it Mark Twain who tells the story of a living skeleton that an exhibitor hired in Australia for a show in San Francisco and en route, on the ocean voyage, he developed such an appetite that when he got to San Francisco he was shown as a fat man. Maybe some day Miss Pontico will consider losing this two hundred pound excess avoirdupois as a blessing in disguise.

New Forms of Beauty

Christian Science Monitor

A casual remark made by a Somersetshire peasant has bridged the years from 1797 to 1934. Information unearthed in the archives of the British Home Office has proved that, for a brief period in the former year, the poet Wordsworth was seriously suspected of being a dangerous spy. As a young man, he lived at Alfoxton in Somerset, and every morning would walk down to the sea to gain inspiration for his work. This led a villager to observe slyly: "Would any man in his senses take all that trouble to look at a parcel of water? I think he carries on a snug business in the smuggling line."

It seems incredible today that, until Wordsworth and his fellow poets of the Romantic revival opened men's eyes, the generation into which he was born, and those that had immediately preceded it, had been largely oblivious to the beauty of the sights and sounds of nature, to the magnificence of mountains, which they thought "horrid," and the majesty of the ocean. May it not be possible that the manifold complaints of the ugliness of modern society may in part be founded on a similar lack of perception?

Many things in the industrial development of the last century have taken more beauty out of the world than they should have done; but would it not be profitable to recognize that they have also brought some beauty in? Have not even the factories that fling a lurid glare upon the skies of night a certain kind of grandeur? And Mr. Edmund Blunden may be considered justified in saying that the headlamps of a motor gleaming on the eyes of a dog show a liveliness that the old horsebrake did not give.

There is, in fact, more beauty in the world, and in more unexpected places, than is often recognized. Is there need of a new Wordsworth to uncover it?

Living in a Glass House

Oakland Tribune

A kiss as well as a shot can sometimes be "heard 'round the world." Crowds broke through the police lines and lifted the roof of Victoria Station with cheers when Prince George, meeting his fiancée, Princess Marina, kissed her on the right cheek and she returned the salute. Which cheek she chose is not recorded.

Most fiancées would be somewhat embarrassed to have their kisses accompanied by loud huzzahs from an attentive populace. But it is one of the penalties of royalty to live in a glass house. It is their business to put on a good show for public entertainment.

There is another penalty for pretty Princess Marina. The hats for her troupe must be chosen and approved by Queen Mary. And Queen Mary's hats are not precisely the type a modern miss would spontaneously yearn to copy.

All in all, private life has its compensations.

The Temperamental Artist and the Unfinished Masterpiece

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

THE LOT

The ladies of our village
Have tidied up the spot
Which, long ago,
We used to know
As Rafferty's back lot.
They've planted it with privet,
And built enticing bowers
Where one may lie
And view the sky
And scent the summer flowers.

But when I view the Eden
Their kindly hands have made
With tender care,
I find nowhere
To drowse beneath the shade
And in the whole enclosure
I see no spot at all
Where ragged boys
May taste the joys
Of playing tag or ball.

It may have lacked in beauty—
Yes, probably it did—
But it supplied
An endless tide
Of pleasure to a kid.
A shabby playground, maybe,
But it was all our own,
For romps and games:
I wish those dames
Had let our lot alone.

There is no way to settle an argument about pronunciation. The one who is wrong doesn't believe in the dictionary. Hill-Billies don't burrah for the New Deal. It gives them sanitary closets when they haven't a drop of snuff in the house. Nature is kind; and the less merit people possess, the less is required to give them the swell-head.

Thoughts On Modern Life

BY GLEN FRANK

A GREAT ECONOMIC STUDY

The Brookings Institution of Washington has published two economic studies of profound importance. One carries the title America's Capacity to Produce. The other, just off the press, is called America's Capacity to Consume. These two studies are even more important for their method of approach to the national problem than for the actual conclusions they report.

There has been no end of loose writing and looser talk about production and consumption. We have been told that the problem of production is solved, and that all that is needed to usher in Utopia is to solve the problem of distribution. But, despite the barrels of printers' ink spent on this argument, precious little factual study has been put upon the effort to determine the real status of production and consumption.

The economists divide into theoretical groups—quite as the theologians of the thirteenth century—one group insisting that the problem of production has been solved so completely that we are under a surplus economy, and that the way out of our difficulties lies in the rational restriction of production; another group insisting that the problem is still far from solved, that the principle of scarcity still exists in the modern economic world, and that the way out of our difficulties does not lie in turning all of our attention to the problem of distribution.

An issue so basic to the national future should not be left to guess work. There is no excuse for irresponsible theorizing on these matters of production and distribution. It is possible factually to determine the adequacy or inadequacy of our productive capacity and of our consumptive capacity. Until we do determine these issues factually, we shall be at the mercy of the cleverest campaigner who succeeds in catching our ear, and we shall continue to wander fruitlessly among old deals, new deals and raw deals.

The significance of these two Brookings Institution studies is that their authors have attempted to put on a fact basis the whole discussion of production and consumption which underlies so much of current politics and current economics. I shall undertake to summarize the high points of these two studies tomorrow and the day after.

LETTING ALONE

There is a time to sow and a time to withhold the hand. Wise parents and teachers interpret this to mean that there are times when it is well to let children alone. The depth of wisdom is knowing when these times are at hand.

When children are headed wrong they must be redirected. That is not difficult to understand. When they are doing nothing at all they have to be stimulated into activity that will create power within them. That is not quite as easy to do. Inertia is hard to overcome and only the right stimulant will work. Still teachers and parents can and do overcome such resistance and keep the children busy.

Once they are started the letting alone process begins. The children will not have the accepted technique. They will not have acquired skill. They will go about the job in clumsy fashion, make mistakes, waste materials and time according to the adult experience. The utmost tact is necessary in correcting the mistakes, reducing the waste and stimulating the worker to want to succeed at a high level.

There is a great difference between the aims and desires of children of different ages, tastes and skills. The teaching must take all these differences into consideration. What is fine work for one child ought not to be accepted from another. A three year old boy makes a boat out of a chip and we say, "well done." If a 12 year old boy does the same sort of thing we say, "You'd better try some other kind of work. Maybe you can make a basket or a garden or a go fishing." Help him find the work that is his and waste no more time talking about it.

When he sets to work in earnest, when you see him intent upon the task in hand, it is time to let him alone. Don't stop him to tell him he is holding his tool the wrong way. Never mind if he fails to get a perfect line. Let him carry on under his own power as long as he will but the minute he lifts his head and casts his eye about in search of help, be at his elbow ready with the right word.

Don't criticize a child's work when he is weary. Give him a word of encouragement and praise. Note his weaknesses and the next time, before he starts, get in your lesson. Show him how to hold his tool, how to get at the job, give him a good start, then, once more, let him alone. Withdraw as far as possible from the working child. Much good work has been spoiled because the instructor insisted upon hovering over it. Children need stretches of quiet, pauses in their days. When you see one sitting idly dreaming between tasks, think twice before interrupting him. A working child needs these spaces of rest. Only the habitual dreamer needs to be lifted out of his retreat and set on his way. The active child is to be allowed to rest when he indicates that desire.

There is no set rule for this or any other phase of child training. Only the principle underlying must be observed. Don't interrupt a child who is creating whether in work or play or rest. There is a time to stimulate and a time to let alone.

(Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, enclosing a three-cent stamped, addressed envelope for reply.)
